

Mas Alla De Mi Reaching Out Spanish Edition

Preached at Enfield, Connecticut on July 8, 1741, this is perhaps the greatest sermon ever preached in America—and is certainly among the most known. Owing to its forthright dealing with God's wrath and His intense hatred of sin and the sinner, it is also one of the most controversial. For more than three-quarters of the sermon Edwards lays down a relentless stream of the most vivid and horrifying descriptions of the unregenerate men. While it is difficult to read such graphic language, there is abundant hope in the sermon's conclusion. Edwards puts it in a loud voice to poor sinners. "And now you have an extraordinary opportunity, a day wherein Christ has thrown the door of mercy wide open and stands calling and crying in a loud voice to poor sinners." While those who would rather ignore God's justice in favor of His mercy condemn Edwards and his sermon, those who were present and actually heard him preach that day reacted in a decidedly different manner. According to the diary of Reverend Stephen May, who attended the sermon, "Before the sermon was done there was a great moaning and crying through the whole House, 'what shall I do to avoid going to hell, etc.'" The diary goes on to indicate that Edwards had to interrupt his sermon and come down to minister to those who were in such awful conviction. And so, in spite of what the scoffers might think or say, "the amazing and astonishing power of God" was manifested to a great number of people that day—with many falling not into the hands of an angry God, but into the arms of a mighty Savior.

Francisco leaves his home in a migrant community and sets off for college, carrying memories of years of poverty and prejudice.

New York Times and worldwide bestselling “dazzling storyteller” (Associated Press) Isabel Allende returns with a sweeping novel about three very different people who are brought together in a mesmerizing story that journeys from present-day Brooklyn to Guatemala in the recent past to 1970s Chile and Brazil. In the Midst of Winter begins with a minor traffic accident—which becomes the catalyst for an unexpected and moving love story between two people who thought they were deep into the winter of their lives. Richard Bowmaster—a 60-year-old human rights scholar—hits the car of Evelyn Ortega—a young, undocumented immigrant from Guatemala—in the middle of a snowstorm in Brooklyn. What at first seems just a small inconvenience takes an unforeseen and far more serious turn when Evelyn turns up at the professor’s house seeking help. At a loss, the professor asks his tenant Lucia Maraz—a 62-year-old lecturer from Chile—for her advice. These three very different people are brought together in a mesmerizing story that moves from present-day Brooklyn to Guatemala in the recent past to 1970s Chile and Brazil, sparking the beginning of a long overdue love story between Richard and Lucia. Exploring the timely issues of human rights and the plight of immigrants and refugees, the book recalls Allende’s landmark novel The House of the Spirits in the way it embraces the cause of “humanity, and it does so with passion, humor, and wisdom that transcend politics” (Jonathan Yardley, The Washington Post). In the Midst of Winter will stay with you long after you turn the final page.

This collection of essays by historians, historians of science and medicine, and literary and textual scholars from several countries analyzes the achievements of Dr. Francisco Hernández (1515-87), author of the monumental The Natural History of New Spain, in the history of medicine and science in Europe and the Americas.

Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2006 im Fachbereich Politik - Internationale Politik - Thema: Int. Organisationen u. Verbände, Note: 1,7, Universität Konstanz, Veranstaltung: Nichtstaatliche politische Organisationen, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: In der vorliegenden Hausarbeit sollen die Ansätze von Mancur Olson (Die Logik des Kollektiven Handelns. Kollektivgüter und die Theorie der Gruppen), James Coleman (Macht und Gesellschaftsstruktur), Dieter Rucht (Parteien, Verbände und Bewegungen als Systeme politischer Interessenvermittlung) und Walter Powell (Weder Markt noch Hierarchie. Netzwerkartige Organisationsformen), zu ihrer Aussagekraft bezüglich gemeinschaftsbasierter AIDS Organisationen untersucht werden. Die Gruppe der gemeinschaftsbasierten AIDS Organisationen stellen im Feld der nichtstaatlichen politischen Organisationen einen besonderen Vertreter dar. Ihr grundlegender Unterschied im Vergleich zu anderen Nicht-Regierungsorganisationen besteht laut Kenis darin, dass sie nicht nur für die betroffenen Gruppen, sondern mehrheitlich von diesen Gruppen selbst ins Leben gerufen worden sind (Kenis 2000: 124). Ich möchte mich in meinen Ausführungen nicht auf gemeinschaftsbasierte AIDS Organisationen in aller Welt beziehen, sondern hauptsächlich auf die gemeinschaftsbasierte AIDS Organisation ACT-UP (AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power; <http://www.actupny.org/index.html>), um das Thema in der Kürze einer Hausarbeit angemessen bearbeiten zu können und um meine Ausführungen mit praktischen Erläuterungen und Beispielen dieser Organisation zu untermauern. ACT-UP soll dabei stellvertretendes Beispiel für viele westlichen gemeinschafts-basierten AIDS Organisationen sein, die sich im Gegensatz zu afrikanischen oder asiatischen Organisationen anfangs fast ausschließlich aus der Gruppe der durch Bluttransfusionen mit dem HI-Virus infizierten Personen und aus der Gruppe der mit AIDS infizierten Homosexuellen gründeten (Kenis 2000: 128). Ursprünglich wurde ACT-UP 1987, 6 Jahre nach der ersten Identifizierung des HI-Virus, in New York gegründet und konnte sich in den letzten fast zwei Jahrzehnten nach Angaben von ACT-UP in über 70 weitere Städte und Regionen in den USA und weltweit ausbreiten (<http://www.actupny.org/documents/capsule-home.html>). ACT-UP nimmt daher eine weitgehende Vorreiterrolle unter den gemeinschafts-basierten AIDS Organisationen ein und stellt ein sehr erfolgreiches und engagiertes Beispiel dar. Deshalb scheint es mir angemessen, ACT-UP als Maßstab für die Überprüfung der Aussagekraft der verschiedenen Ansätze zu gemeinschafts-basierten AIDS Organisationen zu nehmen.

With profound implications for our most foundational assumptions about gender, Gender Mosaic explains why there is no such thing as a male or female brain. For generations, we've been taught that women and men differ in profound and important ways. Women are more sensitive and emotional, whereas men are more aggressive and sexual, because this or that region in the brains of women is smaller or larger than in men, or because they have more or less of this or that hormone. This story seems to provide us with a neat biological explanation for much of what we encounter in day-to-day life. But is it true? According to neuroscientist Daphna Joel, it's not. And in Gender Mosaic, she sets forth a bold and compelling argument that debunks the notion of female and male brains. Drawing on the latest scientific evidence, including the groundbreaking results of her own studies, Dr. Joel explains that every human brain is a unique mixture -- or mosaic -- of "male" and "female" features, and that these mosaics don't map neatly into two categories. With urgent practical implications for the way we understand ourselves and the world around us, Gender Mosaic is a fascinating look at the science of gender, sex and the brain, and at how freeing ourselves from the gender binary can help us all reach our full human potential. Funny Bones tells the story of how the amusing calaveras—skeletons performing various everyday or festive activities—came to be.

They are the creation of Mexican artist José Guadalupe (Lupe) Posada (1852–1913). In a country that was not known for freedom of speech, he first drew political cartoons, much to the amusement of the local population but not the politicians. He continued to draw cartoons throughout much of his life, but he is best known today for his calavera drawings. They have become synonymous with Mexico's Día de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) festival. Juxtaposing his own art with that of Lupe's, author Duncan Tonatiuh brings to light the remarkable life and work of a man whose art is beloved by many but whose name has remained in obscurity. The book includes an author's note, bibliography, glossary, and index.

In this poetic memoir, which won the Pura Belpré Author Award, was a YALSA Nonfiction Finalist, and was named a Walter Dean Myers Award Honoree, acclaimed author Margarita Engle tells of growing up as a child of two cultures during the Cold War. Margarita is a girl from two worlds. Her heart lies in Cuba, her mother's tropical island country, a place so lush with vibrant life that it seems like a fairy tale kingdom. But most of the time she lives in Los Angeles, lonely in the noisy city and dreaming of the summers when she can take a plane through the enchanted air to her beloved island. Words and images are her constant companions, friendly and comforting when the children at school are not. Then a revolution breaks out in Cuba. Margarita fears for her far-away family. When the hostility between Cuba and the United States erupts at the Bay of Pigs Invasion, Margarita's worlds collide in the worst way possible. How can the two countries she loves hate each other so much? And will she ever get to visit her beautiful island again?

Once upon a time, there were three Thingummies called Sadie, Spike and Smudge. They lived in the middle of Nowhere in a place called Floatyfish, surrounded by soft fluffy clouds. The Thingummies had everything they needed - plenty of water, plenty of fresh air, and plenty of flutterberries, a delicious kind of flying fruit that you catch with a net. One day, Sadie sighed. 'We can't stay here doing nothing,' she said. 'What we need is a story.' 'But why?' asked Spike. 'I like doing nothing.' 'Well, I'm bored with it,' said Sadie. 'And I bet the people reading this book are bored too. Just look at them! They've been watching us for a few pages now.' 'Those people up there?' asked Smudge. 'Don't worry about them. They look harmless enough to me.' 'Don't be so lazy, you two!' Sadie said. 'Come on, let's see if we can find an adventure of our own.' So Spike packed a bundle full of flutterberries, and the three of them set off in search of a story. This delightful book by the acclaimed illustrator Mandana Sadat follows three friends as they head off in search of adventure down Fairytale Trail, Poetry Path, Bedtime Boulevard, Future Freeway and the Maze of Mumblings. They soon find out that 'what ifs' are what stories are all about...

The Final Chapter From Billy Graham While his earthly vision dims, the glory of heaven is illuminated as Billy Graham, the beloved evangelist, shares from his past, and his present, the reality of eternity. Although Billy Graham may no longer preach from the stadiums of the world, in this book you will sense his heart still beats strong with the resounding assurance that he will spend eternity with Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world. In Where I Am, Mr. Graham invites and strongly encourages all of us to contemplate our eternal hope. When asked, “Where is Heaven?” Mr. Graham has wisely replied, “Heaven is where Jesus Christ is, and I’m going to Him soon.” The greatest promise ever given to the human race came from the lips of our Redeemer when Jesus said, “Let not your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me...I go to prepare a place for you...I will come again and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also” (John 14:1–3). Just after his ninety-fifth birthday, Mr. Graham proclaimed with resolve, “When I die, tell others that I’ve gone to my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ—that’s where I am.” Flap Copy: As our nation and world travail in the midst of political, economic, and cultural uncertainties, we can find comfort in the hope that comes from the unchanging truth of God’s Word. Whether talking with a US president, a world leader, or the common man or being interviewed on network television, Billy Graham has always begun his answers with “The Bible says...” In Where I Am, Mr. Graham shares what the Bible has to say about eternity from all of its sixty-six books; messages of truth, warning, love, and the certainty of the future, all gleaned by a man who would like to be remembered solely as a preacher of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Each short chapter examines the reality that each of us chooses where to spend life after death: Heaven or Hell. From the Old Testament writer who composed “Show me Your ways, O Lord” (Psalm 25:4) to the New Testament writer who penned the words of Jesus, “Whoever believes in [Me] should not perish” (John 3:16), there is hope for anyone who puts his or her faith and trust in the One who gives us the promise, “Where I am, there you may be also” (14:3).

“A stunningly beautiful book as well as an eloquent appeal and a consciousness raiser.” — The Horn Book Tigers, ground iguanas, partula snails, and even white-rumped vultures are in danger of disappearing altogether. Using the experiences of a few endangered species as examples, Martin Jenkins highlights the ways human behavior can either threaten or conserve the amazing animals that share our planet. Vicky White’s stunning portraits of rare creatures offer a glimpse of nature’s grace and beauty — and give us a powerful reason to preserve it.

A lyrical biography of a Cuban slave who escaped to become a celebrated poet. Born into the household of a wealthy slave owner in Cuba in 1797, Juan Francisco Manzano spent his early years by the side of a woman who made him call her Mama, even though he had a mama of his own. Denied an education, young Juan still showed an exceptional talent for poetry. His verses reflect the beauty of his world, but they also expose its hideous cruelty. Powerful, haunting poems and breathtaking illustrations

Howard Zehr is the father of Restorative Justice and is known worldwide for his pioneering work in transforming understandings of justice. Here he proposes workable principles and practices for making Restorative Justice possible in this revised and updated edition of his bestselling, seminal book on the movement. (The original edition has sold more than 110,000 copies.)

Restorative Justice, with its emphasis on identifying the justice needs of everyone involved in a crime, is a worldwide movement of growing influence that is helping victims and communities heal, while holding criminals accountable for their actions. This is not soft-on-crime, feel-good philosophy, but rather a concrete effort to bring justice and healing to everyone involved in a crime. In The Little Book of Restorative Justice, Zehr first explores how restorative justice is different from criminal justice. Then, before letting those appealing observations drift out of reach into theoretical space, Zehr presents Restorative Justice practices. Zehr undertakes a massive and complex subject and puts it in graspable form, without reducing or trivializing it. This resource is also suitable for academic classes and workshops, for conferences and trainings, as well as for the layperson interested in understanding this innovative and influential movement.
