

The Barrister's Choice (The Repington Chronicles Book 4)

What was it that the British people believed they were fighting for in 1914 – 18? This compelling history of the British home front during the First World War offers an entirely new account of how British society understood and endured the war.

Drawing on official archives, memoirs, diaries and letters, Adrian Gregory sheds new light on the public reaction to the war, examining the role of propaganda and rumour in fostering patriotism and hatred of the enemy. He shows the importance of the ethic of volunteerism and the rhetoric of sacrifice in debates over where the burdens of war should fall as well as the influence of religious ideas on wartime culture. As the war drew to a climax and tensions about the distribution of sacrifices threatened to tear society apart, he shows how victory and the processes of commemoration helped create a fiction of a society united in grief.

In this sweeping, swoon-worthy second installment, a shipwrecked woman searches for her memories and becomes entangled with a conflicted nobleman who holds more answers than he realizes...

This is the second volume of a three volume collection of the correspondence of Caroline Norton, covering the period January 1838-November 1857. The collection also includes an introduction and five commentaries by the editor, contextualising and embedding Caroline's literary and political achievements within the narrative of her letters.

I'm her teacher... but rules are made to be broken. Lennon Eight years together and my high school sweetheart cheats on me. C'est la vie. I'm moving on, hopelessly defeated by love and relationships. Until I see her, a dark-haired beauty at a friend's wedding slipping a stolen beer bottle under her skirt. And when I catch her drinking it in my car, her ballsy attitude blows my mind ...and that's not all she blows. Can't wait to see this little firecracker again. Though I didn't expect to see Darcy so soon, just two days later sitting in my class - on the first day of my first teaching job after finishing college. Not the best start to my career. I'm intrigued by her, although it's wrong. Her sexy smile, the way she licks her lips at me when I look at her, the way she moves - they all make me rock hard and drive me wild. I know she wants me too, but I have to push her out of my mind. This can't happen... we can't happen. There are rules against teachers having s*x with their students, and I've spent six long years working my ass off to get to this point. I won't throw it all away now. She's a divine temptation, but she's forbidden, nonetheless. *** Forbidden is a heartwarming new adult romance featuring a hot and steamy relationship between a teacher and his student. NO cliffhanger, NO cheating, and a happy-ever after guaranteed!

This book is a social history of Irish officers in the British army in the final half-century of Crown rule in Ireland. Drawing on the accounts of hundreds of officers, it charts the role of military elites in Irish society, and the building tensions between their dual identities as imperial officers and Irishmen, through land agitation, the home rule struggle, the First World War, the War of Independence, and the partition of Ireland. What emerges is an account of the deeply interwoven connections between Ireland and the British army, casting officers as social elites who played a pivotal role in Irish society, and examining the curious continuities of this connection even when officers' moral authority was shattered by war, revolution, independence, and a divided nation.

This school was moved to Godalming in 1872.

Chance Washington only has a few things on his mind when he embarks on a trip back to his hometown. Completing the assignment for work that's sending him there in the first place, helping his mom make progress on her fixer-upper home, and catching up with some of his best friends who he doesn't get to see often enough. What is not a part of those plans is hooking up with one of his best friend's little sister. But it doesn't take long for him to realize that just because you walk into a game with a strategy, doesn't always mean things are going to go as planned. Londyn Miller isn't looking for a relationship; a casual fling more her thing after blowing through the limited dating options in her hometown. But when a handsome - familiar - face returns to town for an extended stay, the decision to pursue him for a little fun is an easy one; as long as she's sure not to let that fun turn into real feelings while also managing to keep it all from her overprotective big brother. Just like Chance, Londyn quickly learns that plans and strategy can only get you so far before you're forced to make in-game adjustments. And when those in-game adjustments evolve into something neither expected, it becomes a race for the finish line that Chance nor Londyn saw coming...

'Home Education' Series? Volume VI and final book in the Home Education Series. This exciting new book marks a major shift in the study of the South African War. It turns attention from the war's much debated causes onto its more neglected consequences. An international team of scholars explores the myriad legacies of the war - for South Africa, for Britain, for the Empire and beyond. The extensive introduction sets the contributions in context, and the elegant afterword offers thought-provoking reflections on their cumulative significance.

James always does the right thing. He knows his place in the family and feels guilty about his negative feelings towards his brother. Dependable and honest, James follows his father's request and fetches his brother from London. His stable life goes from peaceful to unacceptable in a very short time. Lady Elizabeth Comerford understands that it is unlikely that she will be allowed to marry for love. She only hopes that she will be able to tolerate the man who becomes her husband. When her father informs her of his plan, she learns very quickly that what she will tolerate does not come close to what the man he has chosen for her dishes out. How will James Repington play into Lady Elizabeth's future? Will he always be available to come to her rescue? The Repington Chronicles is a series about the six children of the Duke of Castborough. Five brothers and a sister keep the things interesting in the Repington household.

Dirty, flirty fun on the catwalk! Kellan So, I got my ass fired after a minor scandal on my last shoot. No big deal. Plenty more offers waiting... or so I thought. Wrong, and with every door slammed in my face, I'm desperate for work. My lavish model lifestyle is down the tubes. I need to restart my career, fast. I'm praying this last knock on the door will bring me some relief. One way or another. Carla I'm working my butt off, trying to stay ahead of the modeling game in this town. Not helped by one of my employees screwing me over...and she didn't even use lube. I need help, and when Kellan shows up at my door, the timing seems perfect. But news travels fast, and as gorgeously as he is, I know he's a real hot potato. He's one hot model, but I can't risk putting him back on the runway for my most valuable client. He's ten years younger than me, for Christ's sake. So why can't I stop myself lusting over him? Model is a steamy romp into the lives of Miami's rich and beautiful. A standalone novel with no cliffhanger, no cheating and a guaranteed HEA.

~Lambda Literary Award finalist for the best LGBT YA novel of 2018~ A raw, powerful, but ultimately uplifting debut novel perfect for fans of Aristotle and Dante Discover the Secrets of the Universe from debut author Angelo Surmelis. Seventeen-year-old Evan Panos doesn't know where he fits in. His strict immigrant Greek mother refuses to see him as anything but a disappointment. His quiet, workaholic father is a staunch believer in avoiding any kind of conflict. And his best friend, Henry, has somehow become distractingly attractive over the summer. Tired, isolated, scared—Evan finds that his only escape is to draw in an abandoned monastery that feels as lonely as he is. And yes, he kissed one guy over the summer. But it's Henry who's now proving to be irresistible. Henry, who suddenly seems interested in being more than friends. And it's Henry who makes him believe that he deserves more than his mother's harsh words and terrifying abuse. But as things with Henry heat up, and his mother's abuse escalates, Evan has to decide how to find his voice in a world where he has survived so long by being silent. This is a powerful and revelatory coming-of-age novel based on the author's own childhood, about a boy who learns to step into his light. As the first nineteenth century woman to successfully campaign for women's rights legislation, Caroline Norton has been comparatively neglected and under-researched. There is, however, a current and growing interest in her life and work. This is a new three volume collection of the correspondence of Caroline Norton. The collection includes over 750 of her letters and also features an introduction by the editors, contextualising and embedding Caroline's literary and political achievements within the narrative of her letters.

Hugh Repington has just been designated as a barrister and he must choose which direction he will go with his work. He can ride his father's coattails in Parliament. He can get a recommendation from his brother, James, to work with the bar. He wants to make his own way, though. And then it is brought to his attention that no matter which choice he makes, he will need a wife. Reluctantly, he begins to search for a suitable match. Lady Julianna Merchant is in her second Season. She is not anxious to get married, but it is what is expected. Her parents have chosen her suitor and she goes along with them to keep the peace. She is less than enthralled with Lord Norsely, but she is resigned to her fate. She sees no other path than the one before her. Hugh and Julianna seem to be crossing paths often during the Season as they skirt around courtships with others. Each is looking for suitability, rather than love. Practicality, rather than true happiness. Will a clandestine kiss be the awakening they both need? Or will the sparks that fly make them rush to safety apart?
