

dog at the park attacks my friend's dog. At first, I'm ready to give the owner hell—but it turns out he's in desperate need of doggie daycare. I figure, why not? I love dogs and I need the cash. Too bad his cocky bad boy attitude annoys me. He's too damn cute for his own good. And I'm not talking about the dog. Easton: My coach is riding my ass and I'm not handling it well. When I'm saddled with an abandoned pooch, my teammate thinks a dog will keep my temper in check. I think I have enough problems already. But when my new dog gets into a tussle that leads me to meet a smoking hot chick who knows how to handle the rascal, I start to think pet ownership isn't all bad. At least it gives me an excuse to see Lilly again. . . . Neither of us are interested in a relationship. First they steal your bed, then they steal your heart. And I'm not talking about the dog.
