Do you want a grasp of the art of successful interviewing

For now, I'm going to give you some very high-level basics to incorporate into how you approach and conduct yourself during an interview. If you read nothing else in this book, read these. Your tone of voice should reflect the material you are responding with, but should never be monotone. You should show excitement, be contrite when appropriate, and be serious or light-hearted, depending on the subject of your response. Be human. We give a breakdown of different interview questions, scenarios, circumstances, and settings. The immediate environment and your interviewer determine the preparation going into the interview and your chances of success. For example, competency-based questions are different from brain teasers, which differ from traditional, web, or communication questions. Moreover, one-on-one questions or settings differ from a panel interview. We evaluate all these aspects with a focus on the type of questions you are likely to face, and the most thought-out, universal, and likely-to-impress answers. Given this backdrop, if you want an authoritative, insightful, and predictive guide to interviewing, and if you "need" to succeed by "wowing" or "acinq" interviews, you really need to read on!
