Affiliate marketing is a type of performance-based marketing in which a business rewards one or more affiliates for each visitor or customer brought by the affiliate's own marketing efforts. The industry has four core players: the merchant (also known as 'retailer' or 'brand'), the network (that contains offers for the affiliate to choose from and also takes care of the payments), the publisher (also known as 'the affiliate'), and the customer. The market has grown in complexity, resulting in the emergence of a secondary tier of players, including affiliate management agencies, super-affiliates and specialized third party vendors. Affiliate marketing overlaps with other Internet marketing methods to some degree, because affiliates often use regular advertising methods. Those methods include organic search engine optimization (SEO), paid search engine marketing (PPC - Pay Per Click), e-mail marketing, content marketing and in some sense display advertising. On the other hand, affiliates sometimes use less orthodox techniques, such as publishing reviews of products or services offered by a partner. Affiliate marketing is commonly confused with referral marketing, as both forms of marketing use third parties to drive sales to the retailer. However, both are distinct forms of marketing and the main difference between them is that affiliate marketing relies purely on financial motivations to drive sales while referral marketing relies on trust and personal relationships to drive sales.

Affiliate marketing is a phrase you might have stumbled across online. There are tens of thousands of books and articles telling you why you must be minting money with affiliate marketing, and you might feel a little left out if your bank account isn't clocking up cash while you are sleeping. What exactly is affiliate marketing, and how can you make use of it for generating a steady stream of passive income for yourself? To put it simply, affiliate marketing is the process of promoting or selling someone else's product or service. You earn a commission on any of the sales made or click through to a given affiliate site. Doesn't that sound quite simple? In theory, you can have a website without any products or services of your own. It can be a blog, an online journal, or anything similar to it. As long as there is some relation to the product or the service, you are set. Maintaining a website costs money, and with affiliate marketing, you can cover all those costs and earn more money. It doesn't cost the owner anything to sign up for an affiliate program, and the business owner doesn't have to pay anything until he makes a sale. So, it is a win-win situation for both parties involved. In this book,

What is the life of an average corporate employee like? It's a mind-boggling monotonous routine. As the decades pass, you can almost feel yourself turning into a robot: wake up, go to work, behave like a robot, come back home; next day, repeat! If you are that person, you must occasionally wonder to yourself whether there's an alternative. Could there be something else out there that you could put your time into and make money and at the same time liberate yourself? Maybe you have thought about opening a business in your city. But then you need capital, and you could end up putting in more hours than you thought, and worse still, make a loss. If there's one business opportunity that suits people who are stuck in a rut (and anyone else who loves money and freedom) is affiliate marketing. This concept became popular thanks to pioneer internet businesses like amazon. As an affiliate marketer, you promote products and services that belong to other people, but you are entitled to a commission for every agreed upon action that you fulfill. Maybe it is getting people to buy a product, or generating leads, or getting people to install a software on their devices, etc. One of the best things about starting an affiliate marketing business is that the entry barrier is so low that you almost need nothing to get started. With as little as $100, you can buy a domain name, a hosting plan, and various other key website building tools. Also, an affiliate marketing business doesn't require you to attend to it 24/7 like most other businesses would require. You only have to come up with a schedule and everyday fulfill your role and your business slowly takes off, and once it's big enough, you can afford to hand in a resignation letter to your boss with a grateful smile. But then don't be fooled. There are many false preachers out there who make people think that affiliate marketing is akin to a get-rich-quick scheme. It's not. Just like any other thing worth achieving, it takes tremendous effort

you can almost feel yourself turning into a robot: wake up, go to work, behave like a robot, come back home; next day, repeat! If you are that person, you must wonder to yourself whether there's an alternative. Could there be something else out there that you could put your time into and make money and at the same time liberate yourself? Maybe you have thought about opening a business in your city. But then you need capital, and you could end up putting in more hours than you thought, and worse still, make a loss. If there's one business opportunity that suits people who are stuck in a rut (and anyone else who loves money and freedom) is affiliate marketing. As an affiliate marketer, you promote products and services that belong to other people, but you are entitled to a commission for every agreed upon action that you fulfill. Maybe it is getting people to buy a product, or generating leads, or getting people to install a software on their devices, etc. One of the best things about starting an affiliate marketing business is that the entry barrier is so low that you almost need nothing to get started. With as little as $100, you can buy a domain name, a hosting plan, and various other key website building tools. Also, an affiliate

If you were to ask a random user of the Internet what he or she thought Affiliate Marketing was; he or she would likely claim that it was a way of making money online as an intermediary. Here, people make a commission from a sale or a referral when a visitor to his or her site clicks on a link that directs him or her to a product or page online. However, as much as there is a lot of truth there, Affiliate Marketing does not only have to take place online. For example, affiliate marketing is also where a plumber gives a client a discount for referring him or her to a new client. It is the same concept. This kind of marketing happens a lot in the real world, but people do not trace or coordinate it as much as is the case with online marketing. Business owners can ask their customers how they came to know about them in an effort to learn about their client base, but they cannot get as much information as they would be using online tracking. The growing online market has made this type of marketing more popular and profitable. It has also made it easier to grow and expand whatever type of business an individual is in with the help of numerous professional marketers who will not necessarily appear on their payroll. Therefore, while its history started long before the invention of the Internet, the Internet has transformed it and made it widely available to the masses. You will start by learning all about the ins and outs of affiliate marketing and what you need to get your feet wet in the marketing world. You will then learn about the importance of choosing the right niche and how to find one that will provide you
