This book presents an analytical framework which assesses how 'land-for-peace' agreements can be achieved in the context of territorial conflicts between de facto states and their respective parent states. The volume examines geographic solutions to resolving ongoing conflicts that stand between the principle of self-determination (prompted by de facto states) and the principle of territorial integrity (prompted by parent states). The authors investigate the conditions under which territorial adjustments can bring about a possibility for peace between de facto states and their parent states. It does so by interrogating the possibility of land-for-peace agreements in four de facto state–parent state pairs, namely: Kosovo–Serbia, Nagorno-Karabakh–Azerbaijan, Northern Cyprus–Republic of Cyprus, and Abkhazia–Georgia. The book suggests that the value that parties put on land to be exchanged and peace to be achieved stand at odds for land-for-peace agreements to materialise. The book brings theoretical and empirical insights that open several avenues for discussions on the conservative stance that the international community has held on territorial

Este trabalho consiste em uma caracterização inicial das habilidades de processamento presentes nas crianças que adquirem o sistema de número gramatical em português. Foi realizada uma coleta longitudinal de dados de produção durante 4 meses com 2 crianças de 24-28 meses e 21-25 meses, cujo objetivo foi obter dados de produção linguística semi-espontânea que permitissem identificar exemplos de produção de formas flexionadas em número. Realizaram-se também 3 experimentos de reconhecimento de imagens, com crianças de 18 a 28 meses e 30 a 42 meses, os quais visavam a verificar (i) se a criança distingue nome flexionado em número de nome não-flexionado; (ii) se a criança percebe onde se localiza a marca de número no português em palavras de seu vocabulário e em pseudo-palavras que remetem a objetos inventados; e, por fim, contrastar dados de experimentos semelhantes relativos a gênero gramatical, de modo a averiguar se crianças processam concordância de número no DP. A hipótese de trabalho que orienta esta dissertação é a de que a informação relativa a número contida nos elementos que formam a categoria funcional Determinante (D) é crucial para a identificação do sistema de número no português. Os valores relativos a número identificados nos elementos da categoria D como marcado/não marcado são interpretados semanticamente como singular e plural por meio do mecanismo da concordância, sendo a identificação do número gramatical mais custosa do que a do gênero gramatical em virtude de o número ser um traço opcional e de este traço veicular informação
