Kyden is the top ranked gladiator in the Five Systems but he's hardly there by choice. Unscrupulous guards faked his death in the lab where he was created and sold him into slavery in the galaxy's hinterlands. He has no idea where his home is or how many years have passed since he was condemned to a life of endless combat. Kill or be killed is the rule and a Badari never gives up. He'll fight to stay alive until the Badari goddess sees fit to decree his death. Elara Vasclavian is the daughter of a senator, as far removed from the life of a gladiator as a noblewoman can be until through the machinations of a political enemy, she ends up in terrible jeopardy. Abducted and given to a group of drunken gladiators for their amusement the night before the games, Elara vows to put up a fight but there's no real hope of saving herself. Until Kyden steps in, responding to the goddess's commandment to protect those who are smaller and weaker. And discovers she's his fated mate. Rescued, Elara returns to her life of privilege but she can't forget the man who saved her life. The gulf between their places in the Five Systems is unbridgeable, no matter how much Kyden longs for even a glimpse of her in the arena audience. No matter how much she feels the pull to be by his side. As matters stand, they cannot be together... Or can they? KYDEN is the first book in a new series, spun off from my ongoing Badari Warriors series. Kyden is a Generation Five Badari whereas the main characters in the long running series are from a later time and are Generation Eight. This new series stands alone and you don't have to have read any of the other books to enjoy this one. I couldn't resist the temptation to tell a few other Badari stories, set in the galaxy's Hinterlands, and who can resist gladiators?

A medieval world, a expert in 21st Century Guerrilla Warfare. What would happen if the two combine? Something dark is brewing on a planet far across dimensions, threatening to eat its way through the thin boundaries of time and space. On the planet Corvalis, just as war is near, the gods send a champion to defend the lands from evil. A simple man from Earth, John is selected to inhabit the body of a warrior of this strange new world, in the hopes that he might guide kingdoms to not only victory, but also the survival of multiple races. He is the gods' champion, and his arrival signals the precursor to a great unknown conflict. The Korath. The Illian. The Wolven. The Dark Ones. Kingdoms of different cultures and species clash as they struggle to learn about this new champion, and prepare for the coming conflict. But John soon discovers that the gods do not always work together. Soon more champions arrive, and the inhabitants of Corvalis grow concerned. There has never been more than one champion. Ever. As the kingdoms wonder what disaster awaits them, fear grips the world, as tension mounts. But John will not permit total annihilation to overcome the inhabitants of Corvalis for one very good reason. There is a United States Marines with a bad attitude, and no mercy, about to open up one huge can of whoop ass on their foes and the enemy doesn't stand a chance. Because Marines are always faithful! Approximately 87,000 words. Professionally edited by Bill De Herder: Author of Creative Wordsmithing.

Welcome to the story of the greatest interstellar cruise liner disaster of all time ("Titanic in Space" as the Galaxy Express Blog termed it), one small group of survivors and what befell them in later years, as told in three novels. This box set gathers three of Veronica Scott's award winning science fiction novels into one collection. Please note each novel has been previously published on its own and all can be read as standalone tales. WRECK OF THE NEBULA DREAM: Traveling unexpectedly aboard the luxury liner Nebula Dream on its maiden voyage across the galaxy, Sectors Special Forces Captain Nick Jameson is ready for ten relaxing days, and hoping to forget his last disastrous mission behind enemy lines. He figures he'll gamble at the casino, take in the shows, maybe even have a shipboard fling with Mara Lyrae, the beautiful but reserved businesswoman he meets. All his plans vaporize when the ship suffers a wreck of Titanic proportions. Captain and crew abandon ship, leaving the 8000 passengers stranded without enough lifeboats and drifting unarmed in enemy territory. (This novel was loosely inspired by the events of the 1912 sinking of the Titanic on Earth but set in the far future, in space.) STAR SURVIVOR: The survivors of a terrible wreck meet again—but this time only one can survive. The long-awaited sequel to The Wreck of the Nebula Dream...They survived an iconic spaceship wreck together. She never expected to see him again ... especially not armed to kill her. Twilka Zabour is an interstellar celebrity. She built on her notoriety as a carefree Socialite who survived the terrible wreck of the Nebula Dream, and launched a successful design house. But now the man who gave meaning to her life, then left her, is back—this time for the worst of reasons. Will he kill her ... or help her survive? D'nvannae Brother Khevan survived the Nebula Dream in the company of a lovely, warm woman, only to be pulled away from her, back into his solitary life in the service of the Red Lady. Now Twilka's within his reach again—for all the wrong reasons. Khevan will do everything within his power to discover why Twilka has been targeted for assassination, and to save her. But Khevan is not Twilka's only pursuer. Will allies Nick and Mara Jameson arrive in time to aid the couple, or will Khevan and Twilka's ingenuity be all that stands between them and death? STAR CRUISE RETURN VOYAGE: Gianna Nadenoft is a reclusive survivor of one of the worst interstellar cruise ship disasters in the history of the Sectors. Now a renowned artist, she hasn't left her home planet in decades, not since returning there after the wreck as a traumatized three year old. With her service animal at her side, she's going to make the effort to travel across the star systems to attend her brother's wedding and reunite with her fellow survivors. Trevor Hanson is a security officer aboard the cruise liner Nebula Zephyr with his own traumatic past as a former Special Forces soldier and prisoner of war. He's assigned to provide personal protection to Gianna during her time aboard the ship but soon finds his interest turning from professional to romantic. The two share more in common than either of them realizes and their attraction grows as the voyage continues. But powerful enemies including a conspiracy theory-obsessed fellow passenger and sinister individuals with hostile intentions are watching Gianna and making plans to seize this rare opportunity to gain access to her and the secrets they believe she's still keeping about the wreck. Can Trevor overcome his personal demons and rise to the occasion to save Gianna from the danger waiting on his ship? Or will she slip through his fingers and suffer a terrible fate deferred from the day her last voyage came to a disastrous end? OTHER STAR CRUISE

When she came to Haven Two Dr. Saffia Mandell expected to grimly do her five years of medical service as the colony's only doctor, work off her medical school debt and leave. Then she'd fallen in love, handled an epidemic and become an accepted member of the community. Now, in her second year, she faces new challenges as the tinder dry planet heads into a fire season and a mysterious food allergy threatens the local restaurant's reputation. Chief Ranger Micah Navonn of the Calinurra never expected to fall in love with a human woman but Saffia was a special person who captured his heart and now means everything to him. Not all of his people are as enthusiastic about the situation and his efforts to handle the politics are getting complicated. Add to that an infestation by insects from another world, causing portions of the forest to die off and his plate is full. When the jet stream shifts course and the fires rage, will the colonists and the Calinurra set aside their differences? With Saffia's life hanging in the balance, can Micah arrive in time to save her and the colonists in jeopardy? Life on Haven Two never lets up... This is the sequel to COLONY UNDER SIEGE: INTERSTELLAR VIRUS, which told the story of Saffia's first year at the

She must betray his trust to achieve her mission. But fooling an alien warrior comes with a price. A guest of the Lathar, Jane hasn't forgotten she's a hard as nails marine. Tasked with finding a way to beat the technologically-advanced aliens, she needs to find answers for her superiors... before they arm the nukes and doom the human race. Just one problem. A scarily-sexy alpha male alien warrior with long hair and a sexy growl. He wants her for his mate and time is running out. Both to get the intel she needs, and to stay out of his bed. Because once he gets her there, she knows she'll never want to leave... A beautiful stowaway is the last thing he needs, but everything he's ever Called away on a mission into a dangerous part of space, an unexpected stowaway puts a crimp in his plans. Ego says she followed him, sense says she's a spy. He'll finish his mission and get her back to the safety of Lathar Prime. He'll make her body burn in his bed, get the truth out of her... and claim her as his mate. But no plan survives contact with the enemy. They must contend with a crash landing, a case of amnesia, and an enemy who think it would be better if Karryl took a long walk out of a short airlock... Go to earth. Find a woman. Bring her back. Simple. The Emperor's Shadow, Xaandryn, is not a warrior. He's something else, whatever else, the Emperor needs him to be. An assassin, and, it seems... now he's a delivery boy. Sent to earth to retrieve the Lady Jessica's sick sister, he's anticipating an easy trip and, if he spends a little time getting to know the local culture... well, that's just a perk of the job. Right? Human women though are endlessly fascinating, especially Jac Wright, the sick lady's nurse. He'd thought the warriors who'd fallen for human women had defective genes, that there was something wrong in their makeup that allowed them to fall prey to their human mates. But Jac is... something else. Tiny. Delicate.

Beautiful. When his mission goes sideways, and an attack puts a couple of them in danger, he escapes earth with not one, but two human women in his

When the hot 'doctor' who arrives to see her sick charge, Jac wright knows he's not on the level. No doctor looks the way Rynn does... hot, ripped and panty-wetingly gorgeous... not unless they're on primetime TV. Then the shit hits the fan, aliens attack and she finds herself on an alien ship with her charge frozen into a giant blue popsicle. What's a girl to do? Kiss the hot alien, then knock him out of course. The problem is, she can't drive a car, never mind fly an alien spaceship. Which is a problem when other, bad aliens board the ship... with an assassin on side though, breaking out of an alien brig is child's play, but comes with a price: Rynn's trust. But once on Lathar Prime her lover seems less than interested in bringing their relationship into the light of day. Will he realise what she's offering, or will Jac be forced to go to extreme measures to claim her alien assassin's heart? The Sacred Fire of the Phoenix

A Steamy Scifi Alien Romance

Newly graduated from a prestigious interstellar medical school, Dr. Saffia Mandell has been assigned to the Haven Two colony on the galaxy's outer rim as the only doctor for some 2000 human residents. She's counting the days until her five years there is up, trying to adjust to rural living after life in the crowded Inner Sectors and fighting her attraction to Chief Ranger Micah Navonn. She's dreading the upcoming tourist season when the rich and pampered will descend on the planet for the scenic wonders and novel sports opportunities and no doubt inundate her little clinic but the colony depends on the seasonal income to survive. As the senior official for his people, the Calinurra, the indigenous inhabitants of Haven Two, Micah enforces the treaty, regulates the tourist permits, patrols the forests and resists his fascination with Dr. Mandell. He never expected to be involved with a human woman and doesn't want to believe in the concept of a fated mate. He wants to keep his life simple and isn't ready for any long term commitment. Besides Saffia keeps proclaiming she'll be leaving when her appointment is up in four and a half years so why should he risk his heart? Then a ship arrives unexpectedly carrying a very ill little girl and soon the deadly virus is spreading through Haven Two. The colony authorities are desperate to cover up the problem to preserve the all-important tourist season and Saffia and Micah have to work together to battle the outbreak, the local administration and their undeniable feelings for each other. Can the colony survive? And will Micah and Saffia be able to move past their fears about entanglements to act on the mutual attraction? An 87K word novel set in the far future...

This is a lightly re-edited version of the previously released novel. No new scenes were added. Egypt, 1500 BCE Adopted brother to Pharaoh, warrior Khenet is fiercely loyal and willing to undertake any mission, no matter how dangerous. Assigned as the bodyguard to Lady Tiya while she travels down the Nile to an arranged marriage with a provincial ruler, he soon finds himself caught between the gods of Egypt, the black magic of an enemy and undeniable feelings for the lady in question. Chosen by the goddess Nephthys to assist in a scheme to defeat the sorcerer, Tiya knows she's going to die but has been promised immediate entry to the fabled afterlife. During the river voyage, she discovers powerful reasons to regret her choices, including her growing love for Khenet. Life has never seemed so precious and her fate so bitter. Raelyn Cantorini, senior stewardess on the interstellar cruise ship Nebula Zephyr thinks the alien artifact she bought on the last planet the ship visited was just a pretty glass orb...until her pet Eyn knocked the ornament off a table, shattering it and sending her into an infinitely repeating time loop. Stuck reliving the same day over and over, Raelyn has only hours to try to save the ship and everyone on board from dying in a terrible catastrophe. As she tries to solve the mystery of what happens to the ship right before midnight each time the day repeats, Raelyn meets Kev Stevens, the former Special Forces soldier turned actor and finds herself falling in love with him. Each time the day repeats, she learns more about him while he has no memory of her. Can she persuade him they've met before? Will he trust her enough to help stop the Nebula Zephyr's destruction? And if they do save the ship, will that reset time for Raelyn? This is a lightly edited rerelease of my novella in the Pets in Space 6 anthology. No new material has been added.

she has been drafted into the Gargoyle Ghost Hunter Corps. So she is fighting jealous rivalries within her own ranks, struggling to unravel the mystery of her recent death, and trying to avoid being killed a second time by a maniacal ghost named Bones who is seeking the destruction of the gargoyle world. In this full-length novel, appropriate for teens and young adults, a new twist on the role of gargoyles is imaginatively brought to life in spellbinding fashion. Woven into the pages are twenty original works of art by Miimork, which breathe life into this ghostly tale.

An unusual bequest.... Juli Shaeffer, the Nebula Zephyr's cruise director, receives a mysterious bequest from the estate of a lost passenger - a lump of rock taken from a reef on the planet Tahumaroa. Legend states anyone who steals from the ocean gods will be cursed. The passenger's will requests the rock be returned to the beach so his heirs won't be affected by the bad luck he believed he'd incurred. Juli doesn't believe in superstitions and she agrees to carry out this small favor on the ship's next stop at the planet in question. Until the rock disappears from her office... When the rock disappears and reappears in various locations around the ship, and seems connected to a steadily escalating series of mishaps, Juli turns to Third Officer Steve Aureli as the only one she feels she can trust. Along with Steve and his elderly Aunt Dian - a passenger aboard the Nebula Zephyr for this cruise - she investigates the strange series of malfunctions plaguing the interstellar luxury liner. Steve and Juli enlist his Aunt Dian's dog, Charli, a retired Sectors Z Corps canine, to help them track the missing rock as it moves about the ship. Juli and Steve must find the rock, hang onto it and transport it to the planet's surface, before the alien idol's curse turns deadly. The attraction between the two of them grows as the threat to Juli becomes more and more formidable. Can she carry out her task while he keeps her safe from the alien curse? Will the capricious alien idol bring them good fortune...or disaster? This is a re-release of the 42,000+ word novel I included in the Pets in Space® 4 anthology, which is no longer available.

revisions or additions have been made to the original novel for the re-release. I have also now included a 4,000 word prequel story Butterfly Hair, in which the diva Azlaya arrives on board the Nebula Zephyr. This short story was a free reader magnet available only in the time before the anthology was originally published.

1550 BCE Forced by a vengeful Pharaoh to flee for her life and hide in the poorest section of Thebes, Lady Pematma has scraped and struggled to support her ailing mother and young brother for the past two years. Now, out of funds with the rent to pay and possessions left to sell, she begs the goddess Hathor for help. With a new pharaoh taking the throne, surely something can be done. A powerful general in command of the army and best friend to the Pharaoh, Marnamaret has everything a nobleman in Egypt could desire...except for true love. He refuses to settle for less. On a whim he prays to Hathor to send him the woman of his dreams. Will the goddess answer these heartfelt petitions? And if she does, will the god of Fate allow the course of two lives to be changed by love?

For none can deny Fate.... Author's Note: This is a connected series. Heiress of the Nile can be read as a standalone. Although it's my newest novel, the story falls between Priestess and Warrior timewise and is set in the early days of this Pharaoh's reign. GO tramp freighter in the Outer Sectors, until the day she and everyone on board the ship were kidnapped by alien scientists to become subjects of gruesome experiments. Far away from home or help, Katrin does her best to bolster the other prisoners' morale and look for a way to escape. Until one day she's chosen for an experiment of another sort - given to a pack of alien supersoldiers as a prospective breeder. Tratus, senior enforcer of the Tzibir pack, never expected to find his mate, much less to meet her among the human prison population of the labs. But there she is and there's no denying the instincts. Despite his Alpha's objections, Tratus manages to convince the alien scientists to give Katrin to him and he vows to protect her. Deeply unhappy with the way his leader runs the pack as he disobeys all their goddess's commandments and refuses to ally with other Badari packs to fight the scientists who created them, Tratus plots a revolt. Despite herself Katrin is drawn to the giant humanoid warrior with alien predator DNA who treats her so respectfully. His scales and other differences from human males only make him more attractive in his own way. But the Alpha distrusts her and Tratus, and time is running out for them both... Can Tratus defeat the Alpha leading his pack to inevitable doom? Can he and Katrin survive the consequences and find their way to claiming each other as true mates or must he let her go? Author's Note: Mature situations. One scene of attempted assault. This is the seventeenth book in the Badari Warriors world (the fourteenth in the numbered main series) and each novel or novella has a satisfying Happy for Now ending for the hero and heroine, not a cliffhanger. Genetically engineered soldiers of the far future, the Badari were created by alien enemies to fight humans. The Tzibir are an offshoot of the Badari, but with reptilian DNA. The scientists kidnapped an entire human colony from the Sectors to use as subjects in twisted experiments...two Badari packs and the humans made common cause, rebelled and escaped the labs. Now they live side by side in a sanctuary valley protected by a powerful Artificial Intelligence, and wage unceasing war on the aliens, although the Tzibir Alpha refused to join the war and they have no communication with the other Badari. The Tzibir live in the desert area of the planet. Some old Badari friends reappear in the course of this novel, which does advance the series arc.

With scarcely a moment to himself, he's drawn to the gentle Lily but worries he won't be able to juggle his duties, his loyalty to the pack and a relationship with a human woman. When Lily's stalker takes direct action to kidnap her and steal her from the safety of the valley, she's forced to reach deep inside to find the strength to battle for her life. Timtur realizes too late how foolish he's been to resist the bond with his fated mate and leads the rescue effort. Before this situation can be resolved both will have to put their lives on the line and decide what really matters in a dangerous world ruled by the enemy. One of the benefits of social media is getting to meet the parents of special needs children and adults. I have grown to know and truly admire these brave people. Our solitary journeys have taken many different roads, yet we've all connected on sites like Facebook, Twitter, and other forums. The support we give each other is a lifeline—an opportunity to not only share the joys our sons and daughters bring into our lives, but also the chance to rant about the frequent injustices we meet head on. I am honoured to have 'met' so many fantastic Warrior Mums from around the world, so honoured that I decided to feature some of their stories in a blog series, which I have now reproduced in this book. These mums will inspire you, just like they have me, these brave women who share their stories from childhood to motherhood and reveal far more than they normally would, in the hope their stories will help others.

1550BCE Nima, formerly a tavern dancer in the land of the Nile, has settled into the leisurely life of her dreams as the pampered, beloved wife to a high ranking general who's also a member of Pharaoh's court. She's sworn never to dance for anyone else but Kamin, the man she loves. All is fine until one day news arrives that her husband has been killed in a chariot accident while on a trip to a remote city on Pharaoh's behalf. But as a reward for their previous service to Egypt against a dangerous enemy, the gods had promised Nima and Kamin they'd die at the same moment...so if she still lives, so must he. Why is the ruler of the city lying to Pharaoh about Kamin's death? What is the woman covering up? And where is Kamin? Time for Nima the elegant lady to vanish from Thebes and Nima the skilled dancer to make her way in disguise to the far distant province and fight for Kamin's life. She'll have to deal with angry gods, black magic, an enemy prince and a deadly ghost along the way. Nima is the only one who can rescue her beloved from the dark fate planned for him by Egypt's enemies...

How the startling image of an anti-war protester spitting on a uniformed veteran misrepresented the narrative of Vietnam War political debate

One of the most resilient images of the Vietnam era is that of the anti-war protester — often a woman — spitting on the uniformed veteran just off the plane. The lingering potency of this icon was evident during the Gulf War, when war supporters invoked it to discredit their opposition. In this startling book, Jerry Lembcke demonstrates that not a single incident of this sort has been convincingly documented. Rather, the anti-war Left saw in veterans a natural ally, and the relationship between anti-war forces and most veterans was defined by mutual support.

Indeed one soldier wrote angrily to Vice President Spiro Agnew that the only Americans who seemed concerned about the soldier's welfare were the anti-war activists. While the veterans were sometimes made to feel uncomfortable about their service, this sense of unease was, Lembcke argues, more often rooted in the political practices of the Right. Tracing a range of conflicts in the twentieth century, the book illustrates how regimes engaged in unpopular conflicts often vilify their domestic opponents for "stabbing the boys in the back."

Concluding with an account of the powerful role played by Hollywood in cementing the myth of the betrayed veteran through such films as Coming Home, Taxi Driver, and Rambo, Jerry Lembcke's book stands as one of the most important, original, and controversial works of cultural history in recent years.

Badari Alpha Jamokan and his pack are growing discontented in the sanctuary valley, tired of coming in second place to the pushy new South Seas pack when it comes to assignments and everything else. On top of the discord within his pack, Jamokan is distracted by the search for the right woman to be a proper Alpha's mate to partner with him in combat and in everyday life. Even the Badari goddess is warning him in visions he and his pack are on the wrong path for a happy future. In desperation, he receives permission to take his entire pack north to the mountains for a two week hunting expedition, where he hopes to use the time and rugged surroundings to settle the soldiers down and restore order and discipline. And figure out his own future. When his men unexpectedly locate a hidden Khagrish lab, he goes to investigate and see if there are humans to be rescued. Little does he suspect he'll be called upon to break one of the highest commandments of the Badari packs and bring a new disaster to those who look to him for leadership. Before she became a Khagrish prisoner, Rosemari Parcher was a hydroponics technician on a gritty colony world, who unexpectedly won a planetwide contest.

Proud enforcer of the Badari South Seas pack, Ivokk undertakes a secret mission back to their former home, in search of a cure for a mysterious illness affecting his soldiers, now in exile in the north. He's ready to make any sacrifice to find the answer and help his pack brothers stay strong. He's even willing to accept responsibility for the human woman assigned to the mission, although she's a headstrong civilian, difficult and rumored to dislike his kind. Sandara DiFerria was once a three star chef in the Sectors, but that was before the alien enemy kidnapped the entire adult population of her colony to use for experimentation. Rescued from the labs by the Badari, she does her part to support the rebellion now by running the vast commissary operation in Sanctuary Valley. All she asks is to be left alone until she can get back to the Sectors and pick up her old life again. Her one previous romantic brush with a Badari soldier turned out badly, ending in public humiliation. Add to that post-traumatic stress from her life before moving to the colony and she's the last person to pick for a top secret mission. Or so she believes. The Alpha running the pack disagrees and sends her to do the job under Ivokk's watchful eye. Thrown together by the nature of the task they must undertake, the undeniable attraction they both

Being rescued by aliens doesn't mean she's going to marry one— not unless he's hot. Asking would help too. The problem is the only alien warrior Gracie is interested in hasn't asked. Seren K'Vass is the epitome of the strong, silent type. Emotionally avoidant with a bad boy vibe, if he was human, she'd climb him like a tree. Hell, she'd climb him like a tree anyway. But the lathar don't do casual— anything. Then a warrior from another clan tries to claim her and all bets are off. Whisking her away to his homeworld, she discovers Mr. Doesn't Talk about Feelings has been keeping secrets. Ones that might get them all killed— She's his, but with tainted blood, how can he claim her? From a family the lathar would rather forget, Seren long ago resigned himself to being the last of his line. But fate has other ideas, putting a beautiful human female in his path. Gracie is everything he never knew he wanted in a mate. But how can he ask her to take on a mate with cursed blood? When a B'Kaar warrior tries to claim what's his, long-suppressed instincts flare to life. He'll take Gracie home, keep her safe and persuade her that he's the only male she'll ever need. But fate, and an ancient and malfunctioning orbital weapon, never makes things easy. They must face their inner demons and find a path to each other— or die in the attempt. bad boy alpha romance

Rennyr was a genetically engineered senior soldier in his Badari Warrior pack until one day he woke up on a strange planet naked, disoriented and about to be sold into the gladiator arena for the rest of his life.

Unscrupulous guards faked his death in the lab where he was created and sold him into slavery in the galaxy's hinterlands. Kill or be killed is the rule in his new life and a Badari never gives up. He'll fight to stay alive until the Badari goddess sees fit to decree his death and release him from the wretched existence. Jaine Mitchel of the Sectors was on her way to an exciting research internship until pirates seized the spaceship on which she was a passenger and took her to feature in a gladiator "death match" in the galactic hinterlands. She has no hope of surviving in the arena until a man she only glimpsed in passing breaks out of his cell and saves her life, declaring her to be his fated mate. Given to Rennyr as his reward for winning the death match, Jaine must share a cell and a bed with the handsome, not human, gladiator and together they have to find a way to survive in this merciless world of violence and death. Their mutual attraction is off the charts. Falling in love is the easy part, finding a way to escape or even to remain together is the challenge. At any time their mutual owner could decide thumbs up or thumbs down on one or both of them, or sell them separately. Their only hope is a mysterious gladiator master from offworld who may be coming to buy Rennyr. Will he take Jaine as well? Could Rennyr win freedom for them both if he does well enough in the arena? Warrior Zorras always takes what he wants, and he wants her. When Karla flees Earth for the safety of planet New Vaxx, the last thing she expects is for one of the huge aliens to show an interest in her. Yet the sexy Vaxxlian warrior named Zorras keeps coming around, and he even threatens to kidnap her. Good thing she's a fast runner. She tries to convince Zorras he's wasting his time, she's too old to have his children, but this news doesn't deter him in the least. He insists she's the loveliest female he's ever seen and claims he recognizes her as his one true mate. But even if he's telling the truth, Karla is nervous about mating with a Vaxxlian. Her first marriage wasn't a happy one and she never planned to marry again, let alone enter an everlasting mating bond with a bossy, Vaxxlian warrior. She'll just ignore the handsome alien and hope he goes away. Yep, that'll work. Or will it? After losing his first mate during the war, Zorras longs for a second chance. The lonely widower doesn't care that Karla can't have offspring, he only wants her. He's convinced they're soulmates, and he keeps trying to make her visit Vaxxlian Matchmakers so the psychics can verify what he already knows. Surely if one of the psychic matchmakers tells Karla that Zorras is her one true mate, she'll agree to become his wife. But the pretty human is frustratingly strong-willed and refuses to do as he says. Maybe he'll follow through with his threat to kidnap her, after all. What could possibly go wrong?

Reede's Mission to the Sectors

Mina is a fair bit smarter than the other acolytes in the sacred temple, but her research and prophetic dreams are regularly ignored by the acolytes who have won the regular favor of the High Vessel, Arava. Mina is a halfling, after all, not a full-blood Sepiana. She's voluptuous and comely, thus not the austere sort of woman the priestesshood takes seriously. Mina is tolerated at best. Fortunately, she takes the star alignments and gory images in her dreams seriously enough to heed the warning of the ancestors she knows have been contacting her. Ren is a sober-minded warrior involved in the invasion of the Sepiana planetoid. Having risen high in the ranks after tournament victories that caught the eye of the revered warrior Tershe, believed to be the voice of the warrior-god RaShu, Ren has been taught to believe that the Sepi acolytes are property of RaShu, according to their mythology. The RaShuna warrior ship lands on Sepiana to invade, just as Mina's visions forewarned her, though her words fell on deaf ears. Ren realizes that Tershe planned on killing the majority of the Sepi acolytes, so Tershe could claim one that his own visions advised him will hold great, budding power. Ren makes an executive decision to rescue the most important daughter of the Stelshar, the ancients of the Sepiana people. After aiding a good portion of the priestesses and acolytes to hide in the lower, abandoned tunnels of Sepiana, Ren takes Mina and her psychic temple cat on an out-of-service shuttle through the tunnels. What follows is a high-octane game of cat-and-mouse that forces the pair to disguise themselves and hide as they find a course to meet with the Intergalactic Council, who are the only ones that can grant them sanctuary from the warrior class of the RaShuna. There's a sacred and hidden path inside each one of us, a path of mysteries and amazing manifestations, where nothing is impossible, not even our wildest spiritual creations. This is the realm of impossibilities, where imagination is carried away by a spiritual insight, which is here referred as the phoenix. The allegory inside this book takes us to a subconscious realm, that can lead us to the most uplifting and unknown side of ourselves, but also to other realities as well, namely, the ones that are parallel to ours, and also other dimensions and galaxies. It is with this allegory of the phoenix that we understand the role of the dragons and serpents of our planet, and how they interfere in the Tao of our existence. As a dance of forces, vibrations of different natures, these symbols and concepts take us to the deepest truth within, of who we are and how far can we go. This is a book about the adventures of our soul, the journey within that so many Shamans live to explore. It's also about a path that all spiritualists and gurus have experienced, a path that some have called nirvana, enlightenment or awaking, but few have ever had the ability to fully describe in a way that can be perceived by the common mortal. The Native Americans have often told us about the spirit of the eagle that keeps guard over the spiritual world. This eagle, or big bird, is representative of another living force, which is the phoenix, the bird of fire. This is why many mystics of ancient times believed that only fire could take souls to another world. The fire purifies the body, but the most potent fire comes from within, as an energy that we burn with our conscious awareness. This is the fire that Buddhists, Taoists and Hindus persist in awakening from within, commonly using disciplines created specifically for this purpose, such as yoga, chikung and meditation. This fire represents the power of our own spirituality, which most people are unaware to possess. As mortals and genetically manipulated slaves of a few alien species, we've lost the physical capability to ignite it. But the phoenix can help us reach it, through the spiritual nature that is within each one of us. The one who can ride the phoenix, can travel very far, to amazing lands. And these are the ones that often come back, when they choose to, as our prophets and religious leaders. This book describes their journey to Valhalla, Heaven, Paradise, or more simply, the Laboratory of God. Can a marriage of convenience lead to something more?
