two distinct groups of medical professionals is needed to minimize such conflict and ensure that players receive medical care that is as unbiased and

NFL.* Ongoing
research into the health effects of the game: The NFL and NFLPA
should continue to initiate and support efforts to scientifically and reliably identify the health risks and benefits of playing professional football. * Access to data: The NFL and, to the extent possible the NFLPA, should make aggregate, de-identified injury data publicly available for independent reanalysis. They should also continue to improve their robust collection of data and offer it to qualified professionals for analysis. *

Meaningful penalties:

The collective bargaining agreement (CBA) should be amended to impose meaningful fines for any club or person found to have violated Sections 1 through 6 of Article 39 of the 2011 CBA (players' rights to medical care and
