

Beyond Four Walls And A Door

Mahmoud's passion for his wife Fereiba, a schoolteacher, is greater than any love she's ever known. But their happy, middle-class world—a life of education, work, and comfort—implodes when their country is engulfed in war, and the Taliban rises to power. Mahmoud, a civil engineer, becomes a target of the new fundamentalist regime and is murdered. Forced to flee Kabul with her three children, Fereiba has one hope to survive: she must find a way to cross Europe and reach her sister's family in England. With forged papers and help from kind strangers they meet along the way, Fereiba make a dangerous crossing into Iran under cover of darkness. Exhausted and brokenhearted but undefeated, Fereiba manages to smuggle them as far as Greece. But in a busy market square, their fate takes a frightening turn when her teenage son, Saleem, becomes separated from the rest of the family. Faced with an impossible choice, Fereiba pushes on with her daughter and baby, while Saleem falls into the shadowy underground network of undocumented Afghans who haunt the streets of Europe's capitals. Across the continent Fereiba and Saleem struggle to reunite, and ultimately find a place where they can begin to reconstruct their lives. The 3rd dimension of the Christ is a work that is sure to challenge the traditionalist of the church world as we know it today! Written directly from the mouth of God, many of the topics discussed will be considered too controversial for a large part of the Christian body that have not grown from the milky teachings of the modern times. This book unmasks at least twelve of the greatest mysteries that the bible has to offer. What you will find most interesting about this piece is that it was written over four years ago but was not allowed to be released until this upcoming year of 2008. When asked why did you take so long to release this work? Dr. Davis stated, "God was not ready to be revealed in his purest essence unto the nations, but now is the time." The 3rd Dimension of the Christ is designed to cause you to question all that you have been taught about the word of God and to challenge you to go and confirm whether you have attained the truth or a watered down version of religious doctrine based upon mans limited interpretations. This piece is sure to change the way that the purpose, identity, and destiny of the body of Christ is viewed by all those that read it. God has higher levels, deeper depths and stranger truths than those that religion has focused on and only by entering into the highest level of scriptural revelation can one receive the keys that will unlock the door that leads them into eternal transformation of the mind, body, and spirit. May you be confounded and may God give you entrance into the 3rd Dimension of the Christ!

Getting Beyond the Four Walls: Laying a Foundation for Developing a Shalom Community

The year is 2137, over 160 years ago the "Great War" was fought in Europe. The Western Hemisphere stayed out of the conflict, as much as possible, using the slogan: "The East for the East ... The West for the West." For all this time the USA did not go past 30 degrees or 175 degrees latitude. Until the aero-submarine, "Coldwater" in command of Lieutenant Jefferson Turck is blown past the 30 in a raging storm. Damaged, the ship landed in Europe only to find that it was not the enemy that was expected but something entirely different. Originally published in 1915 as "Beyond 30."

"Every word written in this book was written from within the confines of my home. Spanning over nearly three years this book is a testament to my time being housebound and proof that despite all the suffering, there is always happiness to be created, peace to be unearthed, and a life to be lived. A journey of self-discovery and personal growth, I hope this book may offer you comfort, inspiration, and wisdom, whatever path you find yourself on. And I hope by sharing my story and imparting my thoughts, it may help you in some small way too." - You'll find this book is a collection of "pieces": some longer, some shorter, some reading like letters, others like journal entries, some like poems, and some continuous and broken prose. The book is split into three parts: The Storm, The Aftermath, and The Calm, as well as a bonus chapter called 'A Conversation with Wisdom'. This book will take you on a transformative journey from the bad moments, to the good moments, and everything in between.

Born to a family of "intuitive" women, MaryRose Occhino uses her "celestial whispers" to open the minds and the hearts of everyone who has sought out her remarkable abilities as a link to loved ones who have passed on. But her powers also became her connection to the outside world—both real and spiritual—after she struggled through an isolation that grew out of her diagnosis of multiple sclerosis at the age of thirty-nine. Filled with startling revelations, this fascinating book is also MaryRose's own inspiring true story. Watch the trailers for the new SyFy show, "Mary Knows Best"! Watch a Video Watch a Video

Hip-hop is creating an expanding ministerial and spiritual movement that is changing the socio-historical landscape on a national and global level. From the streets of its birthplace in the South Bronx to the barrios of Colombia in South America; Hip-hop is helping to create sacred spaces that are providing purpose to our marginalized youth and young adult street populations. Beyond the Four Walls: The Rising Ministry and Spirituality of Hip-hop serves as both an autobiographical and ethnographical journey of my love and experiences with Hip-hop as a professor, youth minister and artist. I invite the reader to explore my outlook on Hip-hop, which reaches far beyond the scope of its music, commercialization, and hood life. Instead, it takes another look at the unprecedented impact that Hip-hop continues to have in both our secular and spiritual communities. Because of its ongoing commitment to community organizing, activism, social justice and education, Hip-hop is worthy to be called a 21st Century socio-political, theological and spiritual movement, akin to that of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Gandhi, Mohammed, Abraham, Archbishop Oscar Romero, and most notably in this book, Jesus Christ and Paul the Apostle.

Minding the Mind by Mridula Seth is a first-hand experience guide that delves into the excitement and challenges of volunteering in mental health advocacy. It describes the silent sufferings of persons with mental illness (PMIs) and how they cope with self-stigma and negative social attitudes. It delineates problems faced by caregivers and their search for the rehabilitation facilities as a solution. There is need for such facilities, early diagnosis, and treatment of mental illnesses. Why are people reluctant to talk about their mental health problems? What are the challenges faced by NGOs running rehab facilities? Why is it difficult to get funds from the corporate sector for mental health? Minding the Mind is a journey and a search for answers, for more questions to be raised, by Mridula Seth, an advocate for social causes, and a volunteer with an NGO running a halfway home for PMIs. The aim of this book is to bring more volunteers, especially the youth and caregivers, to serve as advocates to break the silence, and create an environment for advocacy on mental health.

This volume is the first book to map a broad range of practices and critically examine the impact of education and outreach programmes in theatres and theatre companies around the globe. This innovative volume looks specifically at the manner in which theatres and theatre companies engage in educational, outreach and community work. An array of global case studies examines a wide range of existing and innovative practices, and scrutinises how this work achieves successful results and delivers impact and outcome on investment. The editors set the scene briefly in terms of the history of education in theatre organisations, and then move on to chart some of the difficulties and challenges associated with this work, as well as looking into the conceptual issues that need to be interrogated so that we may understand the impact of outreach and education work on the communities and audiences it aims to reach. A range of theatre practitioners and academics describe their work, its background, and what the authors understand to be successful outcomes for both the participants and the theatres. Finally, the book offers suggestions for both practitioners and researchers regarding further development in this work.

Christian disciples are called to proclaim and demonstrate the whole gospel to the whole person locally, nationally, and internationally. The Body of Christ expressed in the local church must find ways to care for and equip its members to serve those beyond the four walls of the church building – or it ceases to be the church. Through case study field work and a national consultation, a common preliminary understanding was developed among leaders of the Convencao Batista Nacional (CBN – National Baptist Convention of Brazil) regarding the critical factors and best practices necessary for transitioning a church from being inward looking to becoming a body of believers dedicated to serving as God's agents of community transformation in the Brazilian context.

An unusual memoir shares the story of a psychic medium, from the early recognition of her talents as a child, through the nurturing of her mother and grandmother, to her current standing as one of today's most powerful spiritual and psychic advisors, and describes her own battle with multiple sclerosis, her odyssey beyond the limits of the outside world, and the revelations that she has discovered. Reprint.

Some years ago a very wise young pastor explained to me that the world is full of ministry and its opportunities. I knew shortly afterwards that my role in this cause would be outside the four walls of the church itself. It is not usually those within who are suffering the result of having been disenfranchised or disillusioned by the "organized" practice of faith, though it does happen. In the practice of my own faith, both inside and outside the church, I learned that my ministry needed to be with those who were crying out (either silently or verbally) FROM the wilderness. I knew that I had to bring to them, by the power of God's own doing, the words that would personify His unconditional love and grace, the HOPE that lives in knowing Christ for oneself apart from the voices which so often exclude (and I believe distort) the truth of our own belovedness. These are those words.

The church today is in many places "on the nose." For many people, it stinks. It has passed its "use-by" date and should be relegated to the dustbins of history, and the sooner, the better. Nevertheless, the contributors to this volume believe that the church, in spite of its somewhat checkered history and its many present failures, remains an integral part of God's redemptive purposes being worked out in the world, and that God's call to the church is now what it has always been: to be the faithful people of God, bearing joy-filled witness to the resurrection of Jesus Christ in word, worship, and work, in its corporate life, and in the lives of each of its members. Each chapter in this book explores an aspect of what it means to be the church, both with respect to its own life, and with an eye to its presence and mission in the world.
