My attic is the same as ever: quiet, lonely, sad. I'm going to write The Novel of the Short-Sighted Adolescent. But I'll write it as if I'm writing the author's Diary. My book won't be a novel, but a collection of comments, notes, sketches for a novel. It's the only way of capturing reality, both natural and dramatic at once - See more at: http://istrosbooks.com/products/catalogue/diary-short-sighted-adolescent-66/#shash.a7DPd1db.dpuf

The short-sighted adolescent is a passionate reader who takes various cultural figures as models, trying to emulate both their lives and their works. The pupil protagonist is a poor student, who likes science and reads a lot of books, sometimes staying up all night to do so. At the age of 15, he decides to write a novel to demonstrate to his teachers that he is not as mediocre as all the other students, and is prepared to give up everything he holds dear for his art. The novel is written in a number of notebooks--the "diary" of the title--but our myopic hero ultimately fails in three subjects and is too lazy to learn and has to repeat the school year. Diary of a Short-Sighted Adolescent was written by the young Mircea Eliade, one of Romania's greatest writers and intellectuals. The book can be viewed as an early 20th century Catcher in the Rye, and allows us an intimate view of the developing genius--his teachers, his classmates' academic and amorous rivalries, his first sexual experiences--and an introduction to the themes of religion, self-knowledge, erotic sensibility, artistic creation, and otherness; ideas which would preoccupy him until the end of his life.

This second edition of Sarah Worthington's Equity maintains the clear ambitions of the first. It sets out the basic principles of equity, and illustrates them by reference to commercial and domestic examples of their operation. The book comprehensively and succinctly describes the role of equity in creating and developing rights and obligations, remedies and procedures that differ in important ways from those provided by the common law itself. Worthington delivers a complete reworking of the material traditionally described as equity. In doing this, she provides a thorough examination of the fundamental principles underpinning equity's most significant incursions into the modern law of property, contract, tort, and unjust enrichment. In addition, she exposes the possibilities, and the need, for coherent substantive integration of common law and equity. Such integration she perceives as crucial to the continuing success of the modern common law legal system. This book provides an accessible and elementary exploration of equity's place in our modern legal system, whilst also tackling the most taxing and controversial questions which our dual system of law and equity raises.

During his lifetime, W.E. Blatz was so much occupied with the development of the University of Toronto's Institute of Child Study that he was able to devote little time to writing. This is his first book to appear in twenty-one years, and his first complete exposition of his famous Theory of Security. The Theory of Security is radically different from the theories promulgated by Freudian psychologists. Whereas Freudian personality theory is based on the notion of "unconscious," an entity that is only indirectly observable, the Theory of Security derives from the observation of the conscious state in all its manifestations. Dr. Blatz thus makes use of both empirical observations and the results of introspection, and, as might be expected, some of his conclusions run counter to those reached in much current psychological discussion. But proof of the forcible influence of the theory and its author may be found in the impressive number of books and articles already published by Dr. Blatz's associates at the Institute of Child Study, applying the theory to the practical problems of psychological observation and therapy. It is fitting that the man whose work has generated so much fruitful research by others in this field should at last have set down in book form the fundamental principles that guided them.

Unul dintre cele mai cunoscute romane ale lui Mishima, Templul de aur a fost ecranizat de trei ori: In 1958 sub titlul Enjo (Conflagrația), In regia lui Kon Ichikawa, In 1976, cu titlul original Kinkaku-ji, In regia lui Yoichi Takabayashi, și In 1985 ca parte a filmului Mishima: A Life in Four Chapters, regizat de Paul Schrader și produs de Francis Ford Coppola și George Lucas. În luna iulie a anului 1950, un tânăr preot budist dă foc templului Kinkakuji. În fața instanței, acuzatul declară că urăște frumusețea. Fascinat de fapta și de justificarea nemaiauzită, Mishima încearcă să înțeleagă ce se ascunde în spatele acestui răspuns: frumusețea imuabilă a templului vechi de secole aruncă în derizoriu fericirea efemeră și imperfectă a muritorilor, amintindu-le că lumea trecătoare nu le poate oferi nimic pe măsura năzuințelor lor. „Mishima este unul dintre acele genii care se nasc o dată la trei sute de ani. In ceea ce privește talentul, îmi este cu mult superior.“ (Yasunari Kawabata)

Diary of a Short-Sighted Adolescent

"This book will save the reader time and money, combining practicality with a bit more than just mere vision: the ingredients of a successful business in Romania."
Andrei T. Business Case 1: Starting a business in Romania? I like the idea, but I am temporarily outside Romania, so I begin to look for more details online. First impression: frequent and unexpected legislative changes, underdeveloped infrastructure, most documents are in a language I do not quite understand, information is not always up to date, bureaucracy seems intimidating and long waiting times seem to be the norm at all levels. On the other hand, I have heard good things about the attractive tax rates, the business opportunities, the banking sector and the educated human capital, so I want to give the idea a chance, for when the economic environment will return to normal after the crisis.
Business Case 2: I already have a business in Romania that I want to grow. But, even before the pandemic, my business had gone flat and was not growing anymore. I do not understand why; I look for solutions online and cannot find them. Although the volume of information is high, I find it difficult to select what is relevant or, on certain topics, I cannot find what I am looking for. I might need a good tax advisor to help me with that.
Business Case 3: I made a decision and simply want to close my business in Romania. I am looking for details on how to do it in the easiest way. I would like to start over, either in a new field or in a new country. But, also to close my business in Romania, bureaucracy seems daunting. My feeling of disorientation amplifies...
This book is here to help me exactly with these cases. Full of practical examples, it is structured in such a way that I can easily understand some of the most important rules for business success in Romania, during and after the crisis. It gives me a clear structure, from the beginning of a business, going through its development stage, and even as far as closing the company. From the moment when I decide for Romania, it becomes very important for me to understand the practical details presented in this book, starting with the first visits to the notary or the bank. Choosing a good lawyer, accountant and tax advisor will make the difference between the success or failure of my business in Romania. The same will apply to the choice of team members. Having a good tax advisor, I will be able to optimise taxes, keeping my attention on the two levers that will ensure my stability: equity and cash. As additional benefits from reading this book, I will find practical solutions for tax optimisation and the list of the most common mistakes leading to a tax inspection or even a suspension. This book is also relevant for business students, lawyers, consultants, HNWIs, multinational companies interested in expanding their presence to Romania.
"Many of the business owners which have built their dreams in Romania have repeated to us that without our help and guidance they would not have succeeded - and have encouraged us to put all our knowledge into a book. We have always told them, smiling, that a book would not be enough. And they always replied, smiling, that they could hardly wait to read all of them. Well, this is the first one."

This report brings together the available evidence from primary and secondary sources, including household surveys and results of recent qualitative studies, to develop a picture of the development challenges facing Roma populations in Central and Eastern Europe. While living standards have declined for all population groups during the transition to a market economy, there are growing indications that conditions have deteriorated more severely for Roma than for others, and that Roma are poorly positioned to take advantage of emerging economic opportunities. This report focuses on five countries in Central and Eastern Europe: Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania the Czech Republic, and the Slovak Republic. The first chapter of the report provides the historical context and an overview of the methodological issues and main data sources; chapter two presents the available evidence on welfare status and living conditions, examining poverty, housing education, employment and health; chapter three considers issues relating to access to social services; and the final chapter reviews the opportunities for Roma participation in the design and implementation of community development policies and programmes, and outlines policy implications.

This volume, the fourteenth in the Space Sciences Series of ISS/, is dedicated to the matter in the universe, which was the topic of a workshop organized by ISSI from 19 to 22 March 2001 in Bern. The aim of the meeting was to gather ac tive researchers from various fields (cosmology, astrophysics, nuclear and particle physics as well as space science) to asses the exciting new developments in the search for abundant and yet unknown forms of matter in the universe. Due to place ISSI decided to organize a workshop on matter in the universe and invited nine conveners, John Ellis, Johannes Geiss, Philippe Jetzer, Heinrich Leutwyler, Klaus Pretzl, Rafael Rebolo, Norbert Straumann, Gustav Andreas Tammann and Rudolf von Steiger, who formulated the aims and goals of the meeting. The work shop was organized such as to have only plenary sessions with typically half hour presentations and ample time for discussions. The last day was devoted to conclusions on the nature of matter present in the universe is undoubtedly one of the most relevant topics of today's astrophysics and cosmology.

Perhaps the most vexing question facing Europe today is what to do about asylum seekers and people in search of work who arrive daily, some escaping nations where poverty and persecution are, for them, facts of life. Given its costs - both human and economic - immigration policy has understandably become a highly politicized issue. With the abolition of internal borders within the EU, new controls are needed to stop immigration and to prevent non-citizens from working illegally.
