They made a deal to conceive a child then go their separate ways. Falling in love wasn't part of the contract. Centuries after siring a cub with the dragon-goddess Hel, Ares still can't get her off his mind. Every war has been fought in her honor, every enemy slain in her name. When he's invited to the secluded hills of northern California for prime hunting with his adult son, he's surprised to find the dragoness who got away is already a guest. This time, she won't escape him. Hel doesn't need anyone, least of all the fire dragon who fathered her only son. He's brash, crude, and.... he's absolutely delightful in bed. Resisting him should be easy, concrete. But as their nets came up light, the white shrimpers could only see one culprit: the small but growing number of newly resettled Vietnamese refugees who had recently started fishing. Turf was claimed. Guns were flashed. Threats were made. After a white crabber was killed by a young Vietnamese refugee in self-defense, the situation became a tinderbox primed to explode, and the Grand Dragon of the Texas Knights of the Ku Klux Klan saw
