Pre-legislative Scrutiny of the Draft Apprenticeships Bill

Edexcel Level 1 Functional English Student Book Pearson Education

Building on the popularity of our best-selling Maths the Basic Skills, this new edition is ideal for those who need to achieve the minimum level of Functional Skills required or want to help their children with their homework or would simply just like to brush up on their maths skills.

This is the Committee's scrutiny of the draft Apprenticeships Bill which was published on 16 July 2008. While putting much of the current arrangements for apprenticeship on a new basis, the draft Bill provides greater flexibility to allow employers to design and bring forward for approval their own apprenticeship frameworks. The extent of this flexibility is set out in a key document, the specification of apprenticeship standards, which will determine the core components of frameworks was not published with the draft Bill. Nor did it set out in detail how the National Apprenticeship Service would be resourced or organised, or how the legislation would apply in Wales. These are key omissions which impeded the scrutiny. In this regard, it was concluded that in general the legislation is justified because it has the potential to strengthen the structure for apprenticeships in England. However, the concern of volume at the expense of quality. The Government must ensure that the draft Bill is re-written to promote, monitor and report on the quality of apprenticeships. Underpinning quality, the legislation risks the devaluation of apprenticeships, and employers, parents and young people as well as adults will cease to see apprenticeship as a viable route through to a future career.

This book addresses the questions why citizenship education is an important subject for students in further and adult education and why we need democratic colleges to support the study of citizenship education. It investigates the historical roots of further and adult education and identifies how the adoption of citizenship education in the post-compulsory sector can enrich vocational studies in further education and programmes in adult education. It is argued that democratic colleges are vital to ensure that citizenship education informs the decision-making process throughout educational institutions (and as a means of establishing fair and equal representation for important stakeholders). The author has worked in both sectors for over a decade, and uses this experience to offer a blend of educational practice and philosophical investigation. The result is a work that appeals to both teachers in further and adult education as well as academics and students interested in philosophy of education.?
