"Show Your face, if You dare." Clifford Goldstein was an angry young atheist, shouting at a God he didn't believe in. Of course, there are many people like Goldstein who wonder if there is any real evidence for a living God and His Redeemer Son. Here, Derek Morris introduces you to people who have had a dramatic encounter with the Messiah they didn't believe in. The Shiite Muslim, an African ancestor worshipper, and an obsessed novelist who found his life taking an unexpected turn. People in Bible times also present evidence. There are the prophets who spoke of things ever seen and to change the lives of hundreds of millions of people. And it all began with a dozen men, a handful of women, ... and the Holy Spirit. Acts is their story. While it's tempting to think of the early Christian church as the pinnacle of unity, purity, and perfection, this is misleading. Author Wilson Paroschi writes, "We find the early believers, including the apostles, entangled with misconceptions, personal conflicts, prejudice, and several other difficulties typical of human nature. They were not infallible. What they were able to accomplish in such a short period of time, however, is a perpetual testimony of how powerfully God can work when men and women, despite their limitations and failures, humble their hearts in prayer and submit their lives to the control of the Holy Spirit." We should not look at Acts as a retelling of the missionary successes
