Your hard work is paying off. You are doing well in your field. But there is something standing between you and the next level of achievement. That something may just be one of your own annoying habits. Perhaps one small flaw - a behaviour you barely even recognise - is the only thing that's keeping you from where you want to be. It may be that the very characteristic that you believe got you where you are - like the drive to win at all costs - is what's holding you back. As this book explains, people often do well in spite of certain habits rather than because of them - and need a "to stop" list rather than one listing what "to do". Marshall Goldsmith's expertise is in helping global leaders overcome their unconscious annoying habits and become more successful. His one-on-one coaching comes with a six-figure price tag - but in this book you get his great advice for much less. Recently named as one of the world's five most-respected executive coaches by Forbes, he has worked with over 100 major CEOs and their management teams at the world's top businesses. His clients include corporations such as Goldman Sachs, Glaxo SmithKline, Johnson and Johnson and GE.

"Love is a choice that creates feelings, not feelings that makes you choose." Dc This book is created from an account of how I experienced a time in my life. Were a woman knowing how to get along with a man. It is not normal today for relationships to just work out without working it out. Most women are told even before their teenager to enjoy their singlehood focus on their career, spend money, travel and enjoy hanging out with their friends, before getting serious with a man. Many women are told not to focus on a man just their 5-year plan. This book is for the woman who choose to find her way back to her true femininity and self-love thru her expression of self. This type of journey is with the interaction with others showing yourself separate from a man. As men and women, we have an innate fundamental desire for connecting with one another by design. My experience has awarded me the privilege to share with a woman in her natural state as she brought me to mine. I experienced a proud woman embracing her femininity her softness and kind nature. Always expressing her feminine energy thru her words, touch and environment. She didn't find her feminine nature in things but in her enter self. When she expressed, I made her feel safe and secure? She respected and accepted me. I made her comfortable and feel cherished. She was loyal and presented herself with kindness and grace among the public. Which made me want to carry myself to be responsible in my actions so she would have the emotional security she needed. And she regularly expressed acts of service to show her appreciation and need for me. While all the time never exchanging hurtful words or injuring one another's feeling. I would naturally give to her and give to her. This is when I knew a woman can get what she wants from a man. Darrell Canty stands out with this surprising content with informative and impressionable information. This dynamic content provides the emotional and intellectual influence to engage this target audience. As an author he feels compelled to share this information with others. Many if not most people in their entire life will never experience one day of what he had for the most of nine years. Darrell Canty says, "he will be forever grateful and honored for the rest of his life." The author can only hope to help one person find a true connection as he did. The time we spend here on earth means very little without an experience such as this. Once you have experienced this type of experience it will become a lifelong yearning. He can only imagine it to be like a drug attic experience that first high and forever chasing that high time and time again. The author believes because of this experience he has become an author given a voice with something to say. I say thank you. "If a woman is giving a man everything but respect, she has given him nothing at all." Dc

Each of us has but one life to live on this earth. What we do with it is our choice. Are we drifting through it as spectators, reacting to our circumstances when necessary and wondering just how we got to this point anyway? Too many of us are doing the former--and our lives are slipping away one day at a time. But what if we treated life like the gift that it is? Based on a Navy SEAL's inspiring graduation speech, this #1 New York Times bestseller of powerful life lessons "should be read by every leader in America" (Wall Street Journal). If you want to change the world, start off by making your bed. On May 17, 2014, Admiral William H. McRaven addressed the graduating class of the University of Texas at Austin on their Commencement day. Taking inspiration from the university's slogan, "What starts here changes the world," he shared the ten principles he learned during Navy Seal training that helped him overcome challenges not only in his training and long Naval career, but also throughout his life; and he explained how anyone can use these basic lessons to change themselves—and the world—for the better. Admiral McRaven's original speech went viral with over 10 million views. Building on the core tenets laid out in his speech, McRaven now recounts tales from his own life and from those of people he encountered during his military service who dealt with hardship and made tough decisions with determination, compassion, honor, and courage. Told with great humility and optimism, this timeless book provides simple wisdom, practical advice, and words of encouragement that will inspire readers to achieve more, even in life's darkest moments. "Powerful." --USA Today "Full of captivating personal anecdotes from inside the national security vault." --Washington Post "Superb, smart, and succinct." --Forbes

THIS IS A BOOK ABOUT SELF-SABOTAGE. Why we do it, when we do it, and how to stop doing it-for good. Coexisting but conflicting needs create self-sabotaging behaviors. This is why we resist efforts to change, often until they feel completely futile. But by extracting crucial insight from our most damaging habits, building emotional intelligence by better understanding our brains and bodies, releasing past experiences at a cellular level, and learning to act as our highest potential future selves, we can step out of our own way and into our potential. For centuries, the mountain has been used as a metaphor for the big challenges we face, especially ones that seem impossible to overcome. To scale our mountains, we actually have to do the deep internal work of excavating trauma, building resilience, and adjusting how we show up for the climb. In the end, it is not the mountain we master, but ourselves.

We’ve all experienced frustration asking for and getting what we want. It plays out regularly with our partners, children, employers, and businesses we patronize. Sometimes we don’t bother to ask for what we want, even when it’s perfectly reasonable, thinking it will create hard feelings or spark an argument. Often, it’s because we don’t think we can succeed in getting what we want. But nothing could be further from the truth. How to Ask for What You Want and Get It: Common Sense Tips That Work will help readers learn how to ask for what they want and get good results. It teaches them how to stay in the game by using the right words. It also shows how to build rapport by using positive body language. The more you know what makes people operate as they do, the better chance you’ll have of helping them see things your way. The most important aspect to negotiating anything is getting the other person on your side. That means the person you’re asking has to like and respect you enough to do what you want. Most of the advice in this book employs mindfulness techniques. The mindfulness movement helps people live in the moment, speak more effectively to one another, and settle problems peacefully.

A “straight-dope, tell-all account” of touring with two of the world’s greatest bands of the 60s and 70s—A “fast-moving narrative of rock-n-roll excess” (Publishers Weekly). In this all-access memoir of the psychedelic era, Sam Cutler recounts his life as tour manager for the Rolling Stones and the Grateful Dead—whom he calls the yin and yang of bands. After working with the Rolling Stones at their historic Hyde Park concert in 1969, Sam managed their American tour later that year, when he famously dubbed them “The Greatest Rock Band in the World.” And he was caught in the middle as their triumph took a tragic turn during a free concert at the Altamont Speedway in California, where a man in the crowd was killed by the Hell’s Angels. After that, Sam took up with the fun-loving Grateful Dead, managing their tours and finances, and taking part in their endless hijinks on the road. With intimate portraits of other stars of the time—including Janis Joplin, Jimi Hendrix, the Band, the Allman Brothers, Pink Floyd, and Eric Clapton—this memoir is a treasure trove of insights and anecdotes that bring some of rock’s greatest legends to life.
