The "world" can be subject to interpretations that cause Christians to disagree and even fight. Interpretations often end in startling disputes. For some, that world includes the inheritance of denominational interpretations. Historically conditioned conclusions are taken out of their context. Booklets have been produced for young people that largely define the world as dancing, smoking, drugs, music, theater, and music. This book will not spend time on these parochial notions. Rather, it will deal with God's love for the world. While Christians are often warned against the world, God loved the world from a different standpoint and made the ultimate sacrifice to give this world the chance to be restored to rightness with him.

John 3:16 is perhaps the most popular verse in the entire Bible. It provides us with a concise description of God's motivation and action that leads to the hope of the eternal, abundant life promised through Christ. It is the Gospel proclaimed in one brief sentence. In God So Loved ..., this powerful verse is broken down so that each concept of the whole can be examined, explored, and personalized. Author Steve Ink examines who God is, what God has done, and how we should live our lives in response. This book is written for those seeking to learn about and gain a better understanding of the good news of Jesus Christ. The main text of the book provides an overview of the Christian message as seen through Ink's personal experiences. The notes provide supportive information for those who want to learn more.

I have compiled this project as a father dedicated in knowing all that God expects of me to know, do, and become as a minister, priesthood holder, and the patriarch of my eternal family. Our callings in the church are secondary to our obligations as Mothers and Fathers. There will come the day when even our Elder Brother Jesus Christ will proclaim the epic ending words "It is finished". Jesus Christ will then return His keys back to our Father in Heaven, and devote His time and authority to His calling as the Father of all His eternal children. Many investigators, new members, and even some members born into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints are bombarded with a little wave of new words, information, and verses of scripture that are hard to fully comprehend and put-together. The learning curve we go through can take some a lifetime. This book has become my humble attempt to produce a condensed compilation of all that I have received in answers to my questions about my purpose for life, as taught by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. My hope here was to assemble a basic outline of the simple truths of the gospel, so the reader could see God's plan in its entirety in one short book. I pray that the readers of this project will gain a better insight of all these truths, and develop a firm foundation in the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Lucado brings insight to help teens apply the important teaching of John 3: 16 to their lives. Tricia Goyer writes teen responses to Lucados message, guiding teens to fully understand how this verse can impact their lives.

In this volume the brilliant Fr. Spitzer probes in detail the major question that if an intelligent Creator God - manifest in logical proofs, scientific evidence, and near death experiences - who is the source of our desire for the sacred, and the transcendental desires for truth, love, goodness, and beauty, would want to reveal himself to us personally and ultimately. He then shows this is reasonable not only in light of our interior experience of a transcendent Reality, but also that a completely intelligent Reality is completely positive--implying its possession of a completely positive virtue - namely "love", defined as agape. This leads to the question whether God might be unconditionally loving, and if he is, whether he would want to make a personal appearance to us in a perfect act of empathy - face to face. After examining the rational evidence for this, he reviews all world religions to see if there is one that reveals such a God - an unconditionally loving God who would want to be with us in perfect empathy. This leads us to the extraordinary claim of Jesus Christ who taught that God is "Abba", the unconditionally loving Father. Jesus' claims go further, saying that He is also unconditional love, and that his mission is to give us that love through an act of complete self-sacrifice. He also claims to be the exclusive Son of the Father, sent by God to save the world, and the one who possesses divine power and authority. The rest of the book does an in-depth examination of the evidence for Jesus' unconditional love of sinners, his teachings, his miracles, and his rising from the dead. As well as the evidence for Jesus' gift of the Holy Spirit that enabled his disciples to perform miracles in his name, and evidence for the presence of the Holy Spirit today. If this strong evidence convinces us to believe that Jesus is our ultimate meaning and destiny, and desire His saving presence in our lives, that evidence should galvanize the Holy Spirit within us to show that Jesus is Lord and Savior, "the way, the truth, and the life." And our faith in him will transform everything we think about our nature, dignity, and destiny-- and how we live, endure suffering, contend with evil, and treat our neighbor.

This choral setting of John 3:16 focuses on The Redemption. Originally recorded by Glad.

God So Loved, He Gave places the practice of giving within the larger story of God's generosity. Here we discover how our participation in the overflow of divine giving is vitally connected to the Trinitarian nature of God, the unfolding drama of Scripture and ultimately the Gospel itself.

There is a new word surfacing within the landscape of our churches today. That word is "missional." This word "missional," used by authors and trainers within the church community, is intended to promote a renewed sense of awareness for the type of life believers should seek to live every day. While "missional" may be a new term used to describe the Christian lifestyle, it is not a new concept. It began with God. In fact, God Himself is the builder of the missional lifestyle. His mission, the same that He has handed over to Christians today, is people. From the very beginning of time, God's missional walk has been you and me. That missional walk was not without cost and, like our Father in heaven, our missional walk will also have cost. But will our "missional" costs ever be as great as God's? God begins teaching us what His missional cost for us would be, what He was willing to pay, through the lives of Adam and Eve, Abraham, and Isaac. It was His Son, Jesus. He has served as the Pastoral Ministries Director for the Santa Rosa Baptist Association, Santa Rosa County, Florida, and he attended Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary (SEBTS) in Wake Forest, NC.
