idea is excellent. Most people do prefer the thought of getting the food they can't afford from big restaurants being neatly served in their streets. Since food trucks satisfy a basic human need, it is a lucrative business to start. However, like other businesses, there are rules to the game. You do not jump in thinking you will come out with thousands of dollars at the end of the year. Success in the food truck business means careful planning, and if you are new to the industry, you can admit that not much is known about starting a food truck business until you are prospect, the rest of the selling process becomes easier. It's just getting in front of them that's the challenge'. The fact is most cold-calling efforts are doomed from the start. Salespeople lose sales not due to a lack of effort but because they lack a prospecting system they are comfortable with, and can trust to generate greater, consistent results. If you are feeling the same way you have been for the last several years (including the 'calling to check in, touch base or follow-up' approach) or haven't been prospecting at all, you're simply making it easier for your competition to take
