John Muir Laws and Emilie Lygren have developed the first-ever comprehensive book devoted to helping educators use nature journaling as an inspiring teaching tool to engage young people with wild places. In their workshops Laws and Lygren are often asked the how-tos of teaching nature journaling: how to manage student groups in the outdoors, teach drawing skills (especially from those who profess to have none), connect journaling to educational standards, and incorporate journaling into longer lessons. This book puts together curriculum plans, advice, and in-the-field experience so that educators of all stripes can leap into journaling with their students. The approaches are designed to work in a range of ecosystems and settings, and are suitable for classroom teachers, outdoor educators, camp counselors, and homeschooling parents. Full-color illustrations and sample journal pages from notable naturalists show how to put each lesson into practice. Field-tested by over a hundred educators, this book includes dozens of activities that easily support the Common Core and the Next Generation Science Standards--and, just as important, it will show kids and mentors alike how to recognize the wonder and intrigue in their midst.

Are you looking for writing prompts for your school age children? Or maybe you are just searching for writing prompts to your kids more interested in creative writing? Well look not further as we have created this book of writing prompt and story starters for kids in Grades 1-3! Why are writing prompts important for young kids? At this age, children have the creative ability to write about a range of simple issues but usually they just need a bit of inspiration on how to start writing. Hence, our story starters can help them to tap into their imagination. To reinforce a
