The Perfect Score Project is an indispensable guide to acing the SAT – as well as the affecting story of a single mom's quest to light a fire under her teenage son. It all began as an attempt by Debbie Stier to help her high-school age son, Ethan, for the SAT. Aware that Ethan was a typical teenager (i.e., completely uninterested in any test) and that a mind-boggling menu of test-prep options existed, she decided – on his behalf -- to sample as many as she could to create the perfect test prep turned out to be an exercise in both hilarity and heartbreak as she took the SAT seven times in one year and in-between “went to school” on standardized testing. Here, she reveals why the SAT has become so important, the cottage industry in preparing for the test and what is a waste of time. Both a toolbox of fresh tips and an amusing snapshot of parental love and wisdom colliding with teenage apathy, The Perfect Score Project rivets. In the book Debbie does it all: wrestle with math, enrolls in Kumon, navigates khanacademy.org, meets regularly with a premier grammar coach, takes a battery of intelligence tests, and even cadges free lessons from the world's most prestigious (and expensive) test prep company. Along the way, she shares a plague every test-prep rookie, including: “When do I start?”...“Do the brand-name test prep services really deliver?”...“Which should I go with: a tutor, an SAT class, or self study?”...“Does test location really matter?” ... “How do I find the right prep school to affect merit aid?”... and “What's the one thing I need to know?” The Perfect Score Project's combination of charm, authority, and unexpected poignancy makes it one of the most compulsively readable guides to SAT test prep ever – and a book that's about what really matters.

Provides practice questions for students preparing to take the GMAT. Includes full answers, explanations and assessment of scores.
