In this inspirational and humorous collection of essays, author John Dietsch sees his addiction to and passion for fishing as a parable that can help us shift from compulsive thinking to mindfulness and a closer connection to God. From creating fishing scenes on the set of A River Runs Through It in Montana, to directing fly fishing shows in New Zealand and from exploring deep canyons in California to guiding in Colorado, John shares his experiences and asks the question: what are we really fishing for? Through John's journeys across the globe, we discover that the same pursuit in fishing—of what is elusive but attainable—can be applied to our own spiritual journey. In the end, Dietsch uncovers his own truth under the rocks of a childhood river, recognizing the loss of both his brothers as the path of acceptance and faith that is graced by waters.

Following the Pulitzer prize-winning collection Stag's Leap, Sharon Olds gives us a stunning book of odes. Opening with the powerful and tender "Ode to the Hymen," Olds addresses and embodies, in this age-old poetic form, many aspects of love and gender and sexual politics in a collection that is centered on the body and its structures and pleasures. The poems extend parts of her narrative as a daughter, mother, wife, lover, friend, and poet of conscience that will be familiar from earlier collections, each episode and memory burnished by the wisdom and grace and humor of looking back. In such poems as "Ode to My Sister," "Ode of Broken Loyalty," "Ode to My Whiteness," "Blow Job Ode," and "Ode to the Last Thirty-Eight Trees in New York City Visible from This Window," Olds treats us to an intimate examination that, like all her work, is universal, by turns searing and charming in its honesty. From the bodily joys and sorrows of childhood to the deaths of those dearest to us, Olds shapes the world in language that is startlingly fresh, profound in its conclusions, and life-giving for the reader.

Most people know that there are 70 million Baby Boomers in America today....but what is less known is that there are approximately 100 million people in America between the ages of 16 and 30. This generation has just entered, or will soon be entering the work force. And they have no idea how to invest, save, or handle their money. Young people today come out of school having had little or no formal education on the basics of money management. Many have large debts from student loans looming over their heads. And many feel confused and powerless when their pricey educations don't translate into high paying jobs. They feel that their $30,000-$40,000 salary is too meager to bother with investing, and they constantly fear that there will be "too much month left at the end of their money." Douglas R. Andrew has shown the parents of this generation a different pathway to financial freedom. Now Doug and his sons, Emron and Aaron - both of whom are in their mid-20s - show the under-30 crowd how they can break from traditional 401k investment plans and instead can find a better way by investing in real estate, budgeting effectively, avoiding unnecessary taxes and using life insurance to create tax-free income. With the principles outlined in Millionaire by Thirty, recent graduates will be earning enough interest on their savings to meet their basic living expenses by the time they're 30. And by the time they're 35, their investments will be earning more money than they are, guaranteeing them a happy, wealthy future.

A poignant novel about a biracial girl living in the suburbs of Las Vegas examines the friendships she grows out of, and despite, her race.

Mitchell is an alpha among alphas in the brutal Mountain Ridge Pack. He rules with equal part respect and respect, but his pack is growing restless after decades without an heir to his proverbial throne. An alpha and an omega pair can sire another alpha to lead the pack, but Mitchell's not-so-secret desire is the fact that he hasn't been able to impregnate any of his female omegas. Unlike the other packs, the Mountain Ridge wolves have always kept their omegas in line and at a safe distance through the infamous yet efficient Breeding Program. On the recommendation of an old rival turned to friend, Mitchell decides to try his hand--among other things--in a last-ditch effort at siring a rare male omega. When a transfer request for one of the only male omegas in the pack uncovers unspeakable abuse and corruption within the Breeding Program, the very future of the pack is thrown into question. Angel's heart has turned to stone after a lifetime of abuse at the hands of the shifters who oversee the Breeding Program in his pack unit. The only love he has left belongs to three other omegas he shares his little corner of hell with. Angel will do whatever it takes to win them, even if it means becoming the mate of the top alpha himself. Angel knows better than to gruff Mitchell when he claims that he's not like the others. Despite his best attempts to steer clear against the strange bond that forms between them, Angel discovers that Mitchell is the most powerful alpha of all because he wants the one thing Angel has sworn never to give--his heart. With war on the horizon, a pack in chaos and two hardened hearts melted by an unlikely spark of love, the outcome is certain. The Mountain Ridge Pack will never be the same. This volume of original stories is all for furry feline friends. A unique collection of fantastical cat tales.

The authors of this Bouquet are people like you. Retired, living in the Lutheran Homes at Glynde, with freedom at last to pursue things they have always wanted to do. Intrigued by a flyer in their letterboxes offering a creative-writing group, the long-held desire to write overcame their hesitation. They came along, one Tuesday afternoon, to meet with Dorothy O'Neill, a Homes resident and the author of several books, to find out more. Every first and third Tuesday in the month, for a year, these seven women worked diligently with Dorothy, to discover and develop the skills they never knew they had. Using simple and homely topics, they drew on their experience, imagination and wisdom to create the varied pieces collected here. Through the group, these strangers found the satisfaction of creative work and the fun and fellowship of a shared endeavour. So here is a bouquet of their work - short stories, poems, spiritual reflections - to prove that creativity flowers in all of us if we will let it: age open, experience not required.

A Memoir

India's irrigated agriculture sector has been basic to India's economic development and poverty alleviation. One of India's major achievements is its rapid expansion of irrigation and drainage infrastructure. However, the major emphasis on development has been achieved at a cost. The importance put on new construction has diverted attention away from the need to ensure the quality, productivity, and sustainability of the services. Further, a governmental subsidy based approach has been used and this has resulted in irrigation and drainage services which, while enabling significantly higher productivity than from non-irrigated lands, are well below their potential. 'The Irrigation Sector' discusses directions for future growth, the framework for reform, and the reform agenda.

Danyal Jilani doesn't lack confidence. He may not be the smartest guy in the room, but he's funny, gorgeous, and going to make a great chef one day. His father doesn't approve of his career choice, but that hardly matters. When Danyal gets selected for Renaissance Man, a school-wide academic championship, it's the perfect opportunity to show everyone he's smarter than they think. He recruits the brilliant, totally-uninterested-in-him Bisma to help with the competition, but the more time Danyal spends with her . . . the more he learns from her...the more he cooks for her . . . the more he realizes that happiness may be staring him right in his pretty face.
