Is the delay in payment putting a severe dent in your cash flow? Do you need to set up a credit line personally or in your small business—but fear sounding amateurish in your request? Nothing captures the attention of a letter or email recipient as much as money issues—their money or yours. Whether depositing, withdrawing, lending, or borrowing, you want to make sure you provide all the facts—and get all the facts. In this book you'll learn and become confident in all areas of credit and collection management. Additionally, you'll learn to communicate intelligently with your customers about other miscellaneous matters of accounts receivable collection, banking, finance, and taxes. As a borrower for personal or family needs, you'll find sample letters for many areas that you must handle individually—aside from those issues that any credit and collection role at work might require: · When you have borrowed money · How to motivate creditors to work with you during difficult times · When requesting a loan · When addressing friends or family regarding money issues In your collection position at work, you of course realize the need to learn how to deal with sensitive money matters such as lending, borrowing, and collecting where tone becomes very important in reaffirming customer commitments and in keeping any personal relationship intact. The image you create with your writing style and with your thoroughness often makes an impression that spills over into the business transaction and lending decision itself. These credit and collections letter examples and alternate phrases cover a wide range of categories: · Requesting credit · To creditors promising payment · Investigations · Offering Credit · Refusing Credit · Cancelling Credit · Collection letters and emails for accounts receivable If you'd like to spend up your accounts receivable collection, then these business collection templates provide the right wording to get the money in your door without putting distance in the customer relationship!

The essential reference for anyone who needs to write, send an invitation, formally introduce, or speak to their local sheriff, pastor, judge, or city councilman.

Do you have a college degree? The H-1B is the best type of work visa for you to obtain. However, they are used up very quickly each year. If you are not going to have an attorney help you, you should use this book to get a clear and concise example of what is needed. There are many parts to a successful H-1B and this book makes it much easier to put it all together for submission before the deadline. There are many parts of the H-1B to properly get it issued. There is the LCA or Labor Condition Application as well as the cover letter, H-1B exhibits, working documents, supporting letter from the employer among other items. It is very important to get the H-1B petition properly filed and all the necessary employment fees paid due to the fact that it is so limited in the numerical issuance of the visas. There are 65,000 issued per year, but several thousand do automatically go for Chile and Singapore, decreasing the numbers. Then the lottery system usually has nearly 300,000 filed for the remainder. Thus, your chances of getting chosen for the H-1B are about 25%. That is why this sample petition is so valuable. It gives you a good roadmap to proceed forward to get it filed. If you have a Masters degree, there is an additional 20,000 H-1B's issued for that particular level of education. Therefore, do remember that the position itself has to require such a degree and that must be explained properly in the petition itself. Such examples are marketing analysts, computer programmers, engineers, etc. There are many options and a creative H-1B can be put through. There are many available positions for the H-1B. However, you have to keep in mind that the H-1B position has to match the college degree. For example, you cannot be an accountant if you have an engineering degree. The next important factor to consider is that the job itself has to normally require a college degree or the H-1B will not be issued. For example, US Immigration does not consider that a Registered Nurse requires a college degree, and therefore, even though most of the nurses have such a degree, they will not be able to get an H-1B. This is the most popular work visa and it actually only opens up once per year around the end of March for the start date of the following October. Note that if you have already been on H-1B, that you do not have to go through the H-entrepreneurial way to obtain the Green Card without needing tons of money and without waiting years. The lottery system for the next H-1B. You can actually file at any time and start working when the H-1B is filed. H-1B's are issued normally for 3 years. However, the H-1B provisions have the ability to issue 1 year increments if you have an I-140 petition or the PERM pending for more than a year. In this way, the spouse of an H-1B holder can get an employment EAD on H-4. The sample H-1B Specialty

Occupation visa will give lots of great information and a significant amount of information and data that will comply with the requirements. Thus, if you cannot hire an immigration lawyer to prepare the necessary H-1B Specialty Occupation visa, then this is the next best thing. Follow it carefully and closely and you will have a real chance of realizing your dream to stay inside the United States. Note that the adjudicating officer at USCIS is not your friend or the Consulate Officer at the U.S. Consulate deciding whether you should get this particular visa or status. Thus, you need to completely and properly document and prepare your H-1B Specialty Occupation Visa. You must properly either get legal representation via an attorney or represent yourself. Either way, if you qualify for this, you must make it as strong as possible.

A notary is a public official responsible for independently verifying signatures and oaths.

Depending on how a document is written, a notarization serves to affirm the identity of a signer and the fact that they personally executed their signature. A notarization, or notarial act, officially documents the identity of a party to a document or transaction and the occasion of the signing that others can rely upon, usually at face value. A notary's authentication is intended to be reliable, to avoid the inconvenience of having to locate a signer to have them personally verify their signature, as well as to document the execution of a document perhaps long after the lifetime of the signer and the notary. An oath is a sworn statement. In most cases a person will swear that a written statement, oral statement, or testimony they are about to give is true. A notary can document that the notary administered an oath to an individual.

This edition of Importing Into the United States contains material pursuant to the Trade Act of 2002 and the Customs Modernization Act, commonly referred to as the Mod Act. Importing Into the United States provides wide-ranging information about the importing process and import requirements. We have made every effort to include essential requirements, but it is not possible for a book this size to cover all import laws and regulations. Also, this publication does not supersede or modify any provision of those laws and regulations. Legislative and administrative changes are always under consideration and can occur at any time. Quota limitations on commodities are also subject to change. Therefore, reliance solely on the information in this book may not meet the "reasonable care" standard required of importers.

A young diplomat's account of her assignment in South Sudan, a firsthand example of US foreign policy that has failed in its diplomacy and accountability around the world. In 2017, Elizabeth Shackelford wrote a pointed resignation letter to her then boss, Secretary of State Rex Tillerson. She had watched as the State Department was gutted, and now she urged him to stem the bleeding by showing leadership and commitment to his diplomats and the country. If he couldn't do that, she said, "I humbly recommend that you follow me out the door." With that, she sat down to write her story and share an urgent message. In The Dissent Channel, former diplomat Elizabeth Shackelford shows that this is not a new problem. Her experience in 2013 during the precarious rise and devastating fall of the world's newest country, South Sudan, exposes a foreign policy driven more by inertia than principles, to suit short-term political needs over long-term strategies. Through her story, Shackelford makes policy and politics come alive. And in navigating both American bureaucracy and the fraught history and present of South Sudan, she conveys an urgent message about the devolving state of US foreign policy. This book was written to eliminate the Fear of US Immigration and the complexities of the US Immigration System. The specific intention and objective is to UNVEIL the U.S. Immigration System, provide Tips and guidance to Foreigners that will reduce the FEAR .To give insight for the correct behavior that may influence the approval or denial decision. The broken, yet complex, US Visa and Immigration System, intimidates and frustrates most Foreigners, from finding the correct US Consulate for the first interview appointment to completing the process. This book is written by Foreigners for Foreigners, professionals, lawyers and individuals. The content of this book represents the personal experiential knowledge and perspective of two Foreigners a USA Citizen as contributor, family and acquaintances. The experiences of many individuals and families interviewed by the authors are also reflected. The Author s US Immigration experiences involve some 8+ years of filing, researching, communicating, interviews, and processing at several different US Consulates outside the US and with different Immigration offices inside the US. Dealing with seven law firms, including winning a malpractice case against one firm, provided deep insight and first-hand experience into the US Immigration System. The authors met and interviewed many Foreigners, with their own personal Immigration experiences, pursuing their Dreams to visit or immigrate to America.
