

So You Think You're A Hipster

Thought you had it bad? In this book, you will be: Imprisoned by a sadistic logician. Challenged to raise dogs from the dead. Trapped on a burning island. And much more besides . . . Everything is at stake in this compendium of more than 150 ingenious puzzles, selected to reveal the wonderful diversity of brainteasers that have confounded and intrigued solvers for the last thousand years. You'll wrestle with wits against probability problems, wrestle with wordplay, grapple with geometry and scrabble for survival. Along the way you'll find stories of whip-smart thinkers, eccentric novelists and a poodle with allegedly supernatural powers. You will absorb fascinating and important mathematical ideas. Some solutions will rely on ingenuity, some will challenge you to spot hidden patterns, others will require extreme rationality. All will surprise, entertain and stretch your brain. Will you make it out with your puzzling pride intact?

The twenty-first century is a tough place for a child. The competition is razor-edged, the temptations myriad. Gone are the days when children played catch in the neighbourhood, ate what they were given, and went to bed by 9. Now it's all about staying ahead of the curve, being in the know, having the latest gizmos. How does one then raise a happy and well-rounded child amid the pressures of the modern world? Who Do You Think You're Kidding? acclaimed educationist Lina Ashar shows you how to: • prepare your child for a competitive world by choosing what they want to study • shift focus from book-based studying to creative higher education • deal with the pressures of the modern world • discover your child's true potential. Based on her experiences and research, as a parent and teacher, this book will equip Indian parents with the right tools to guide their children on the right path.

A look at our inner selves concentrates on finding our core identity through meditations, visualizations, and healing stories as we learn to find happiness while constantly adapting our identities to our diverse roles at work, at home, and in the community. Reprint. Available in paperback printing.

The title of this book is taken from one of the hilarious stories in the book. All of the stories are written about events that happened to me and others. The clogged drain story is about a secretary who was constipated and took a laxative, then went to work on Monday. When she sits down on the great white throne, it practically explodes under her. The skunk story will make you wish you had a dog that doesn't stink. My uncle's mule story is so unique and funny you might fall off your chair. Each one is unique and was chosen because it was extra funny or was in some way exciting or otherwise interesting. The Alzheimer's story really gives you food for thought on the subject of no everyday, run-of-the-mill experiences. Every one of them will either make you laugh, make you cry, or give you something to think about and contemplate. You'll enjoy the shoplifting story. It makes you ask, "Are there really people like that?" Yes, there really are! To avoid confusion about the name Lauren, let me explain. My mother named my older brother, Lauren, after her older brother, Lauren. My brother. Then I named my middle son, Lauren, after my older brother, Lauren. Therefore, there are three generations of Lauren mentioned in this book. Hope you don't get too confused.

So You Think You're a Bookworm?

So You Think You Can Think

So You Think You're a Hipster?

The Clogged Drain Story

Surprising and Rewarding Puzzles to Sharpen Your Mind.

Do You Think You're Clever?

What Do You Think You Are?

You think you're human. But what does that mean? How can humanity be defined? Felipe Fernandez-Armesto takes us on an enlightening and provocative journey through the history of humankind to reveal the challenges to our most fundamental belief - that we are, and have always been, human. Fernandez-Armesto investigates advances in artificial intelligence and genetics, and asks what these mean for the future of human values, human rights, and the defence of human dignity. The book illustrates how our concept of humankind has changed over time and how our current understanding of this has been shaken by new challenges from science and philosophy.

Skinny jeans? Check. Thrift-store clothing? Check. Non-essential prescription glasses? Check. Beanie hat balanced artfully on the back of your skull? Check. These items have become the uniform for a new breed of young people—“hipsters”—determined to take over cities with their “alternative” ways whilst overloading on irony and striving to be original and creative. So You Think You're a Hipster? examines what it takes to become one of this ever-growing tribe of young urbanites, just as desperate to be accepted by their peers as they are to receive the next rent cheque from mom and dad. Over the following pages a series of hilarious case studies will identify typical examples of the subculture, helping you to avoid any future encounters with them. Take thrift-store guy who, at 35, still works selling worn sneakers and threadbare t-shirts for extortionate amounts and still dreams of one day getting his latest album reviewed on Pitchfork. Or the aspiring author who lugs around an old-fashioned typewriter to write down her inspirational musings at a moment's notice. Then there's ironic moustache man whose facial hair makes him feel like a highly individual fashion maverick, despite the fact all his graphic designer friends have one, too.

With this inspiring guide, New York Times bestselling author Joel Osteen encourages readers to discover a strength that pushes them forward, a power to do what they couldn't do before. You were designed with the ability and inner strength to stretch to the next level, to stand strong and overcome the opposition, to learn new skills, to believe bigger, dream bigger, and to take on new challenges. In You Are Stronger than You Think, #1 New York Times bestselling author Joel Osteen encourages you to stand firm when the difficulty is not turning around. When the pressure mounts, when you feel overwhelmed, when the struggle looks too big, or the goal is out of reach, you have to remember that is not your destiny. You are more powerful than you think. You need to see yourself the right way and realize what's already inside you. You were made to outlast the competition, to go further than you thought you could, and live a life beyond what limits you. As you read You Are Stronger than You Think, you will find the power to break the cycle of defeat, the courage to set a new standard for your family, the hope to conquer your fear, and the confidence to accomplish every dream. You will discover that you have more strength, more talent, more determination, and more endurance than you ever imagined. Nothing can hold you back...because You Are Stronger than You Think!

This personal portrait of a mother and daughter explores the profound and poignant revelations that so often can come to light only after a parent has died.

Stories of Flo and Rose

So, You Think You're Clever?

So, You Think You're Ready to Date?

So You Think You're a Prophet

So You Think You're a Skateboarder?

So You Think You're a Good Person

How many species do you really know about - not just the well-known ones but random weird ones as well? Find out what makes a dinosaur a dinosaur and what the environment was like when they roamed the Earth.

Teenage dating proves a new and exciting experience, yet can tragically bring pain and emotional damage if teens try to figure it out as they go. This book for girls lays the groundwork for dating from a Biblical perspective. Its Biblical truth, quizzes, questionnaires, stories, and real life anecdotes answer questions many teen girls have about dating and discuss topics such as their goals for the future, the needs of every teenage girl, cultural v. Biblical views on sex and relationships, physical and emotional boundaries, lies girls tell themselves when they date, how to spot a bad boy, the Cycle of Violence, characteristics of a good guy, how to know if a guy is interested, what a proper first date looks like, and so much more! There's no other book like this one - get your copy today!

From humble beginnings through to the modern day multi-million dollar industry it has become, skateboarding has been dragged from its outsider roots into the mainstream world. While the grizzled 80s skate veterans are up in arms that you can now buy a skateboard from nearly every mall or high street in nearly every town from LA to NYC, the fact of the matter is the skateboarding community has snowballed from counter-culture activity into a sport that appeals just as much to the underground as it does to the average kid on the street. Now you're just as likely to see a skater sneaking into a local school as you are live on ESPN. With so many different strains of the skate family tree, it's hard to keep track of all the different tribes out there, and that's where So You Think You're a Skateboarder comes in. Fifty examples from the contemporary skate scene are examined in an attempt to unravel what makes skaters tick. Skaters include the Pushy Parent spending every Sunday at the local park trying to convince his kid to love skating in the same way he did. Or the "friendly" Local, who's been determinedly skating the spot for the last 10 years and will be damned if he's going to share it with any newcomers. The Wannabe Gangster spends much time trying to nail bigspins as he does trying to emulate Biggie, and the Piss Drunk has spent the last four hours eyeballing shots of tequila and is about to attempt to boardslide the next handrail he can find.

From The Book Thief and The Binger to The Scholar and The Sci-Fi Lover—read all about over 20 different types of bookworm. Ever find yourself mainlining coffee at work in an effort to stay awake after a late night with a page-turner you just couldn't put down? Does the thought of being stuck on a train/plane/bus without a book fill you with more existential angst than a Camus novel? Were you too traumatized to leave your bed for days after finishing The Time Traveler's Wife? If any of these scenarios sound familiar, then chances are you're a book lover, but what kind of bibliophile are you? Perhaps you're The Cryer, who doesn't enjoy a story until at least a pint of real tears have been shed. Or maybe you're The Adulterer, who struggles to commit and never has less than four books on the go, or The Abuser, whose "treat 'em mean" attitude leads to turned-down corners, broken spines, and water-damaged pages. With over 20 hilarious bookworm profiles, you're sure to spot a good few character traits that any member of the literati will recognize. While we won't claim it's as funny as a Philip Roth novel, So You Think You're a Bookworm? will definitely raise a smile or two.

Shged. Married. Annoyed.

The Sunday Times No. 1 Bestseller

So You Think You're Human?

The Healing Power of Your Sacred Self

So you think you've had a bad day

So You Think You're Funny?

So You Think You Know About... Tyrannosaurus Rex?

So You Think You're Smart is an eclectic collection of word games, riddles and logic puzzles to tantalize, tease and boggle the brains of readers of all ages and educational levels. The brain teasers are about ordinary words and things that everybody knows about so only common sense and a bit of resourcefulness are needed to solve them. The book is in its 17th printing and has appeared on Saturday Night Live.

The author's intent is to call into question the validity of a belief about human nature that enjoys almost universal acceptance. He contends that there is a huge difference between the "good" people we think we are, and what we're really like. He hopes this book will challenge us to evaluate ourselves and our core values. This book is about us—our humanity and our inhumanity, our selflessness and our self-centeredness, our compassion and our indifference. It is about the age old question of what we're really like in the depths of our being. Most assume that, "basically, we're good people." Isn't that just the way it is? Isn't that what everybody thinks? If someone feels like their self-image, integrity or reputation is being threatened, we often hear them say, "I'm a good person!" It would be pretty hard to live with yourself if you weren't able to maintain some semblance of self-worth. We've taken it for granted that, "basically, we're good people." Something we've just assumed to be a given has been elevated to the status of truth. The reader will be asked to do some soul searching as to the validity of this widely held belief. Two key factors in making any assessment of whether or not we're "good people" are the standard by which we measure ourselves with respect to charitable giving and volunteerism. The reader is challenged to reevaluate their standard of what a good person is. Furthermore, this book asks the reader to take action based on their understanding of what it means to be a good person. Do you want to go with the flow, or start struggling against the strong cultural currents of ethics, morals and values that seek to pull us along with everyone else? His reason for writing is that he hurts for and is concerned about those who are less fortunate, those dying from starvation or disease and those living in conditions that make it difficult to maintain any semblance of dignity and hope. He challenges the reader to use their potential to help the suffering, the abandoned and the destitute. The book addresses many current high-visibility issues that are relevant and part of today's conversation: income inequality and the wealth gap, the fading of the American Dream and the decline of the middle-class, government regulation and the Volcker rule, bank penalties for actions taken during the mortgage crisis and the anniversary of Lyndon Johnson's declaration of a War on Poverty, Congressional gridlock and, most of all, Pope Francis' emphasis on the need to care for the poor and the marginalized. The dynamics involved in these issues demonstrate the author's belief about the nature of man, reflected in lives that are characterized by self-interest, greed and indifference. We have this tendency to look out not just for the needs of ourselves and our own, but also our wants, at the expense of the unmet needs of others - many of whom are living in misery and despair. This book gives his perspective on how all of these issues fit into the big picture of the meaning of life.

Are you a good first date? Are you worried about being girlfriend or boyfriend material? Do you just worry there are no more good options left in the world? Where HAVE all the good people gone? We all do. And the solution is establishing a standard we can all live by and date by. Sandro D'Abruzzo shares insights into the quantifiable methods to dating success and helps define a "standard" we should all strive towards in efforts to improve our love lives. He shares his experiences dating in big cities around the world, including jaw-dropping anecdotes about his personal journey, and explaining what happened, what went wrong and what the next move ought to be. From quirky to nightmarish, So You Think You Can Date takes us on a tour of different dating archetypes and offers advice for creating a healthy, realistic dating mentality in the 21st century.

Do you think you or somebody you know might have psychic powers? This book lets you test if you or friends have actual psychic or spiritual powers. The tests in the book are all 100% scientific and are the same as those found in genuine parapsychology labs, but each can be done with nothing more than common household items. There are tests for telepathy (ESP), clairvoyance, astrology, telekinesis, astral projection, psychometry, dowsing, and many more. You do not need to know anything about these subjects to do the tests. Every step, from set up to scoring, has been done for you. All you have to do is to have fun! The author has a Ph.D. in statistics from Cornell University, and is currently a professor of statistics at the Cornell Medical School.

Cautionary case studies from the city streets

45 tales from the street and the skatepark

Unleash the Power to Go Bigger, Go Bold, and Go Beyond What Limits You

The Essential Guide to Tracing Your Family History

Boys' Life

A Guide to Teenage Dating

So, You Think You're Psychic?

So You Think You're Smart 150 Fun and Challenging Brain Teasers International Puzzle Feature

What happens if I drop an ant? What books are bad for you? What percentage of the world's water is contained in a cow? The Oxbridge undergraduate interviews are infamous for their unique ways of assessing candidates, and from these peculiar enquiries, professors can tell just how smart you really are. John Farndon has collected together 75 of the most intriguing questions taken from actual admission interviews and gives full answers to each, taking the reader through the fascinating histories, philosophies, sciences and arts that underlie each problem. This is a book for everyone who likes to think they're clever, or who thinks they'd like to be clever. And cleverness is not just knowing stuff, it's how laterally, deeply and interestingly you can bend your brain. Guesstimating the population of Croydon, for example, opens a chain of thought from which you can predict the strength of a nuclear bomb ...and that's just the start of it.

Confused by the overload of blogs, articles, and guides that promise you everything you need to know on how to write for the web? Not sure where to start with your blog and website, from optimizing for search to creating the best headline? Or how to take your writing skills to the next level and actually market yourself and make money as a professional online freelance writer? In So You Think You Can Write?, you'll learn every skill it takes to write great copy for the web, from the absolute fundamentals of using storytelling in great online content all the way to knowing how to write for both search engines and people, what it takes to craft different forms of content on the web, and much more; plus, there's a bonus chapter revealing how to market yourself and make income as an online copywriter in a modern world. Written by Julia McCoy, who spent years of her life teaching herself the elements of successful online writing and launched a writing business that hit seven figures within five years, this book is your essential blueprint to learning what it takes to write great online copy, both as a freelancer and brand/business owner. In this book, Julia walks you step-by-step through the process of how to craft the seven forms of online content: 1. Web Content 2. Blogging 3. Social Media 4. Advertising/Sales Copy 5. Industry Writing 6. Journalism 7. Creative Writing Julia also takes you through the basics of SEO (search engine optimization) for the online writer and creator, without overloading you: you'll get a key list of the top tools on the web to research keywords, learn how to hone your best key phrases, and the tactics of how and where to place them in your content. Illustrated, easy-to-understand, and fun to read, this is a comprehensive yet digestible resource for writers and businesses alike on how to create successful online content. After you read this book, you'll be able to: Define your audience and the terms they use to search in Google Write great content that will get picked up by Google Know the basics of what it takes to write all seven forms of online copy Create blogs that are evergreen and engaging Know how to write the "secret" bits of copy that search engines love: meta descriptions, tags and more Know how to use Twitter chats, live streaming, and Facebook groups, and other platforms to find your people and confidently market yourself as a writer Access a comprehensive list of online writing tools and resources in the final Appendix Julia McCoy has built a successful freelance writing career and a multi-million dollar copywriting agency out of nothing but the amount of hard work, time, and self-teaching she put into it: and she believes any writer has what it takes to create great online content, provided they learn the essential tactics of adapting to all online copy forms. But she knows it's hard to find these fundamental teachings in one place: which is why she decided to write a book to offer everyone just that opportunity. A writer and internet marketer from an early age, Julia started three companies, enrolled in college, and wrote a book by 16. At 20, she dropped out of nursing school and left McDonald's to make a career out of her passion in online writing. Her writing agency, Express Writers, has over 70 team writers and strategists; and Julia's clients have included Shopify, PayPal, Staples, and a thousand other worldwide businesses of all sizes. Julia is also the creator of #ContentWritingChat, a Twitter chat that's hit #42 on Twitter; hosts The Write Podcast on iTunes; and writes at The Write Blog, Content Marketing Institute, Search Engine Journal, and a large amount of online publications.

The president of a Harvard University comedy troupe provides the budding improv-comedy player with useful drills, important rules to remember, a basic tutorial on building one's first improv scene and how to put the scene in front of an audience, including how to create a comedy troupe and how to treat the audience right. Original.

What Every Well-educated Person Should Know

The Oxford and Cambridge Questions

Over 20 hilarious profiles of book lovers—from sci-fi fanatics to romance readers

A Students' Guide to Improv Comedy

You Are Stronger than You Think

The Science of What Makes You You

Tools for Having Intelligent Conversations and Getting Along

The companion how-to guide to the hit TV series—with advice for anyone starting their own genealogical search. In the groundbreaking NBC series Who Do You Think You Are? seven celebrities—Sarah Jessica Parker, Emmitt Smith, Lisa Kudrow, Matthew Broderick, Brooke Shields, Susan Sarandon, and Spike Lee—went on an emotional journey to trace their family history and discover who they really are, and millions of viewers caught the genealogy bug. With the official companion guide, anyone can learn how to chart their family's unique path. Featuring step-by-step instructions from Megan Smolenyak², one of America's top genealogical researchers, this book offers everything readers need to know to start the journey into their past, from digging through old photos, to finding the best online resources.

So you think you're Irish, do you now?

An entertaining personality profiler gathers evaluations from the individual, partners, family, friends, and co-workers, and includes color-coded tests and self-scoring devices. Original.

50,000 first printing. $40,000 ad/promo. Tour.

'Gets right to the heart of what makes us what we are. Read it!' Angela Saini, author of Inferior and Superior: The Return of Race Science The popular science equivalent of Who Do You Think You Are? Popular science master Brian Clegg's new book is an entertaining tour through the science of what makes you you. From the atomic level, through life and energy to genetics and personality, it explores how the billions of particles which make up you – your DNA, your skin, your memories – have come to be. It starts with the present-day reader and follows a number of trails to discover their origins: how the atoms in your body were created and how they got to you in space and time, the sources of things you consume, how the living cells of your body developed, where your massive brain and consciousness originated, how human beings evolved and, ultimately, what your personal genetic history reveals.

So You Think You Know Football?

How to Teach Your Kids About Sex So You Won't Get Embarrassed And They Won't Get AIDS, a Disease Or a Baby

The Armchair Ref's Guide to the Official Rules

So You Think You Can Write?

A Brief History of Humankind

So You Think You're Smart

A Simple Guide to Activate Your Prophetic Knower

Boys' Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America. Published since 1911, it contains a proven mix of news, nature, sports, history, fiction, science, comics, and Scouting.

The sequel to the 50,000+ copy-selling "Do You Think You're Clever?" featuring even more brain-melting Oxbridge interview questions."

Considered by many to be mentally retarded, a brilliant, impatient fifth-grader with cerebral palsy discovers a technological device that will allow her to speak for the first time.

Whether you've barely recovered from spending lockdown with your other half or desperately heading back to the clubs to meet 'the one', SHGED. MARRIED. ANNOYED. is here to see you through . . . THE SUNDAY TIMES BESTSELLER FROM THE STARS OF THE CHART-TOPPING PODCAST NOW FEATURING A BONUS CHAPTER 'An absolute triumph' Daisy May Cooper 'These two are bloody hilarious' Zoe Sugg 'A hilarious look at the highs and lows of relationships' Sun _____ SHGED. Hitting the bars, necking drinks and necking strangers, stumbling home, one-night-stands, nightmare dates, thinking this one's alright, ghosting, tears, more drinking, living off late-night chips. MARRIED. Meeting 'the one', weekends away, moving in, declaring life-long love, stags and hens, the perfect wedding, the honeymoon period, getting through the hard bits together, starting a family. ANNOYED. Can you close the bathroom door if you're doing that? Sleepless nights, arguing about whose turn it is to change the baby's nappy, toys everywhere, only having two drinks, still being hungover, wondering when it all stopped being easy. Whether you're shged, married, annoyed, or all of the above, Chris and Rosie Ramsey write hilariously and with honesty about the ups and downs of dating, relationships, arguing, parenting and everything in between.

So You Think You're Well Educated

Taking on the Oxford and Cambridge Interview Questions

The Beggar Maid

A Memoir

So You Think You Know About Britain?

So You Think You've Got Problems?

British Museum: So You Think You've Got It Bad? A Kid's Life in Prehistoric Times

Examines rules in baseball, illustrating each with actual plays from historical and contemporary games to understand the mechanics of a play or how it should be scored.

So You Think You Know Football? is the motherlode of NFL rules and their interpretations. Whether you know everything about on- and off-field rules or are a true novice, Austro deftly illustrates the ins and outs of the NFL rulebook using examples from actual games. Test your inner referee with questions about the correct call and how slight changes might affect the ruling. Do you know why spiking the ball immediately to stop the clock is not considered intentional grounding, while hesitating a few seconds then spiking the ball is? See if you would have made the right call in a game played between the Chicago Bears and Oakland Raiders on November 27, 2011—with additional quiz questions from other games involving similar controversies. Keep this book right next to your favorite football-watching chair to consult during the game and visit ThinkYouKnowFootball.com to stay updated on interpretations affected by rule modifications.

So You Think You're a Prophet sheds light on the gift of prophecy, the office of the prophet, as well as other subjects related to the prophetic. It unlocks your understanding in the prophetic, gives insight on your prophetic knower, and activates a hunger for the prophetic. If you want to know more about the gift of prophecy, the prophetic, or your prophetic knower, this book is for you. WINNER OF THE NOBEL PRIZE® IN LITERATURE 2013 In this series of interweaving stories, Munro recreates the evolving bond between two women in the course of almost forty years. One is Flo, practical, suspicious of other people's airs, at times dismayingly vulgar. The other is Rose, Flo's stepdaughter, a clumsy, shy girl who somehow leaves the small town she grew up in to achieve her own equivocal success in the larger world.

Who Do You Think You Are?

Just Who Do You Think You Are?

Out of My Mind

So You Think You Can Date

So, You Think You Want to Teach? - Interviewing Tips to Help You Get the Job

The Definitive Guide to Successful Online Writing

So You Think You Know Baseball?: A Fan's Guide to the Official Rules

"This book offers the reader genuine hope that civility has not been lost to blind, dogmatic beliefs in personal or political ideology and to our sense of fairness and continue to have discussions about important matters, disagree entirely, but still be able to get along and avoid over hatred, dialogue over violence, and most importantly, fairness and understanding in our disagreements on important issues"--

When it comes to immigration, the population explosion, the collapse of the family, the north-south divide, devolution, or the death of the common wisdom tells us that we are in trouble; however, this is far from the truth. In his brilliant anatomy of contemporary Britain, le Daniel Dorling dissects the nation and reveals unexpected truths about the way we live today, contrary to what you might read in the mosaic: Most children who live above the fourth floor of tower blocks in England are Black or Asian. The higher you go in a building, the children tend to be. Relationships: The more times a person's heart is broken, the nearer they will tend to move to the sea. If you want to marry head for the countryside. North and South: People in the south move home on average every seven years and job every eight years faster than in the north of England, but a year slower than is usual in Scotland. Optimum population: Immigrant nation - There are twice as many grandchildren of British-born people living over-seas as there are people living in Britain who have grandparents who were themselves born in Britain. The problem now is more about getting pregnant than a population explosion and we need more immigration not less. Immigration: Muslims are more likely to marry non-Muslims in Britain than Christians are to marry non-Christians. The elderly: Most people in Britain never live long enough to be burgled. In some areas you would have to live for over five hundred years to have an 'evens' chance of being a crime victim. Towns divided since the enclosures: Step children are most commonly found in the most leafy of idyllic rural villages. Nuclear family homogeneous city phenomena. Why are there no cheap homes in the countryside any more? Transport: The greatest threat to life in Britain of all things is the car. For adults aged over 24 they most likely die as a driver, over 15 as a passenger, and over age 4 as a pedestrian. Work: There is no work until we drop - all could retire early. Reviews for Injustice: "A geographer maps the injustices of Selfish Capitalism with scholarly care." --Oliver James. "Dorling provides the brain-cleaning software we need to begin creating a happier society." --Richard Wilkinson author of Spirit Level.

"A kid's life in prehistoric times might sound like fun, what with all those woolly mammoths and massive stone circles, but actually life was pretty hard. In this hilarious book, written by award-winning author Chae Strathie, children will learn just how tough life really was, from and hunting wild boar to being forced down mines to collect flint and even eating butter kept in a bog!"--Publisher's description. This famous drama, an expressionistic parable by the Nobel Prize-winning playwright, explores such themes as the relativity of truth, the necessity of illusion, and the instability of human personalities.

Explore Your Many-sided Self with the Berkeley Personality Profile : the Fascinating New System that Shows You how to See Yourself & Your Partner, Family, Friends, and Co-workers

Right You Are, If You Think You Are

A Journal That's All About You

150 Fun and Challenging Brain Teasers

So You Think You're Irish

Who Do You Think You're Kidding?

Dr. L. Robert Furman gives you his thoughts on the interviewing process. Through his 25 years of interviewing experience, Dr. Rob has many insightful ideas as to how to create and distribute a quality resume, what administrators might be looking for in a quality answer, how to prepare and deliver a quality teaching lesson as part of the interviewing process and what to do after the process is over. Interviewing can be a stressful experience. Use this book to get some good ideas and feel prepared for the process.

Explore the ways that your past has affected the person you've grown into in this fully illustrated journal. You are who you are today because of a million tiny moments. It's hard to say which moments are responsible for your tendency to cancel plans, what initiated a weird habit, or why your go-to comfort food as a kid was a ketchup-and-mustard sandwich, but sometimes you only need to spend a little time reflecting in order to unearth these connections between past and present. In this illustrated journal, artist Siobhan Gallagher will jog your memory and encourage self-reflection with fun and engaging prompts, such as: • What is something (or someone) you can't believe you ever liked? • In the museum of your life, what moment was so important that it would need to be represented by a life-sized diorama? • If you could bottle up your childhood, what would it smell like? (Chocolate-scented markers? Grandma's house?) • Draw and label all the things you've lost that you wish you'd found. With plenty of room to write and reflect, Who Do You Think You Are? will help you examine your past to understand the unique and fascinating timeline that made you into the person you are today.