The Impossible Postal Express is no ordinary train. It's a troll-operated delivery service that runs everywhere from ocean-bottom shipwrecks, to Trollville, to space. But when this impossible train comes roaring through Suzy's living room, her world turns upside down. After sneaking on board, Suzy suddenly finds herself Deputy Post Master aboard the train, and faced with her first delivery—to the evil Lady Crepuscula. Then, the package itself begs Suzy not to deliver him. A talking snow globe, Frederick has

Egypt. Nominated for an Edgar Award! Can a lazy cat and a dung-obsessed beetle really crack a mystery? Ra relishes his role as the Pharaoh's beloved—and spoiled—cat. So when an amulet goes missing from the palace, Ra plans to keep enjoying his snacks and nap in the sun. But Ra's friend Khepri, a wise and industrious scarab beetle, insists on investigating in order to save the young servant girl who has been framed for the crime. Once Ra gets going, he decides that being a Great Detective isn't so bad; in fact, he doesn't mind being hailed as “ Protector of the Weak and Defender of Justice. ” The comically mismatched duo is on the case! Wacky illustrations with fun historical details bring these oddball characters to life.

Bones meets the dark humor of Lemony Snicket in this smart middle grade ghost story. Frances—you can call her Frankie—was not a happy baby. She was born amidst chaos, to two loving but unprepared parents. On a beach. In a storm. No wonder she's always had a temper. And you know what did nothing to quell her anger? Dying dramatically in a freak natural disaster that wiped out her whole town. As a ghost, it's not so easy for Frankie to hide her rage, especially when suspicious visitors to her ruined home seem to have a keen and ominous interest in her. But when you were born with a

In fact, corporations have become almost soulless monsters in the singular pursuit of profit, perpetrating, even feeding off human misery, threatening every aspect of human life--the air we breathe, the water we drink, the food we eat, the health care we receive, and even the survival of humankind itself. Dr. Brian Moench reviews the historic and current inhumane behavior of well known corporations, offering shocking detail and insights about the pharmaceutical, chemical, financial, pesticide, biotech, food processing, lead, gun, asbestos, and fossil fuel industries. A common denominator among them is that despite scientific and empirical evidence of the danger and lethality of their products, these industries

Why is it that corporations run by seemingly accomplished and talented, if not admirable people, end up behaving like psychopathic, Frankenstein monsters, where profit eclipses all other considerations, including the literal survival of the human population? In today's world, with the global reach of corporations, and their technological capability for destruction, those unrestrained pathologic urges are hurtling us all toward consequences unimaginable, and a future irredeemable.
