"Riya has always had a secret ambition-winning the coveted Miss Indian Beauty crown. It's Riya's chance to turn fantasy into reality. The Miss Indian Beauty contest could well be her ticket to instant fame and success. After all, she's good-looking, intelligent, confident and, most importantly, tall-how difficult could it be? But Riya is in for a dose of reality, as she soon finds herself in the company of twenty-two gorgeous girls, under house arrest in a five-star hotel in Mumbai for a rigorous training session that will test them all to their limits. With each girl's eyes set on the crown, the mood is emotionally charged and the atmosphere intense, exhilarating, vicious and explosive all at once. What Would You Do to Save the World?is a delightfully entertaining first novel which reveals the dust behind the diamonds, the tears behind the plastic smiles, and dishes the dirt on what really goes on behind the scenes of a beauty pageant."

A nose for digging? Ears for seeing? Eyes that squirt blood? Explore the many amazing things animals can do with their ears, eyes, mouths, noses, feet, and tails in this interactive guessing book, beautifully illustrated in cut-paper collage, which was awarded a Caldecott Honor. This title has been selected as a Common Core Text Exemplar (Grades K-1, Read Aloud Informational Text).

What are your thoughts about money? Many of us were taught that money is bad. Many people mistaken the verse in the bible that says..."the love of money is the root of all evil." "Money" and "the love of money" are two entirely different things. Money is simply a "tool". We can use this tool for good or bad, right or wrong. Take a hammer for instance. Who's to say that a hammer is bad? It can do a lot of good and help people in many ways. But if used the wrong way, it can do a lot of harm and damage. Money is the same way. We can use it for evil, or we can use it to do good and help not only ourselves, but others. The person holding it gets to decide which way they choose to use it. Did you know that some of the most wealthy people in this world are givers. They give and give and give. If you were to study their lives, you would see how generous they really are. They understand the Law of the universe that states..."When we give, something always comes back." This is one of the main reasons that they are so wealthy. Many of us have this backwards. We say to ourselves..."Once I receive, then I will give." We may feel that we don't have anything to give, but this is not true. At the moment, it may not be money that we can give, but we all have something to share.We are here to help each other out, and as we do, we are always blessed in return. As you read through this story, feel free to dream. Dream about all the different things you would do with a million bucks. And think of all the ways you could share it to bless the lives of others.

If You Loved Yourself, What Would You Do Now?

Funny to serious, shallow to deep, the 500 questions in this book will get teens laughing, thinking and talking about their emotions, beliefs, dreams, and values. Designed to open the door for conversation that will deepen relationships, these questions can be used within families, among friends, or with complete strangers, not just youth groups. Arranged in no particular order, they can be used as time-killers on road trips, icebreakers in small groups, crowd-mixers in large groups, or simply in one-on-one conversations. Sample Questions: What Would You Do . If you had the opportunity to ask your parents one question without feeling embarrassed? If you could do one more thing before going completely blind? If Instant Messaging ended? If you could come up with one way to serve your community this month? If you could write an eleven-word commandment? Kevin Mahaffy, Jr. has been around youth ministry his entire life, growing up with a father who served as a youth pastor, camp director, and professor of youth ministry; he himself has been involved in youth ministry since 1993. He is an ordained minister and has been the youth pastor at Smithtown Gospel Tabernacle in Smithtown, NY since 2005. He is a graduate of Elm Bible Institute and Regent University. He has been married to Adriana since 1996. Together they have two daughters, Claudia and Natalia. Kevin loves Jesus, loves teens, and wants to help teens love Jesus. He is passionate about reaching seekers, teaching believers, and releasing leaders in God's kingdom. He is also passionate about Starbucks and the New York Yankees.

This interactive storybook, told in rhyme with endearing, full color illustrations, is truly priceless! Teach your child problem-solving skills, through real-life situations and true-to-life characters. What would you do if your ball rolled into the street? How about if you spilled juice on the floor? What happens when you're tempted to eat lots of delicious goodies, but you want to avoid getting a stomachache or cavities? This beautiful book contains important lessons and presents a wonderful bonding opportunity for children with their parents, teachers, grandparents, and friends.

Following on the popularity of her first book, If You Had to Choose, What Would You Do? children's author and psychologist Sandra McLeod Humphrey continues her series on kids making tough moral choices in a complex world. This new interactive book encourages parents and teachers to talk to children about their values and helps kids formulate their own personal value system in the face of peer pressure, even when following their own conscience means going it alone. The twenty-five contemporary scenarios presented are situations that children can easily identify with, and the questions at the end of each chapter encourage productive, in-depth discussions about the moral choices suggested by a particular story. Readers can easily personalize each short tale or use them as jumping-off points to make up their own problem scenarios to fit specific circumstances. Above all, this is a fun book! Kids will enjoy reading through each short situation and then deciding what they would do. Best of all, they'll learn that just as their bodies need exercise to build strong muscle and bone, moral character also needs "sets" and "reps" to keep it fit. In a society where rules are ambiguous and role models fleeting, this excellent book will guide children through everyday problems and instill in them a sense of responsibility for their own choices and actions.

Need some unusual but realistic icebreakers to get conversation flowing? Looking to start some hilarious and memorable discussions and debates with friends or family? Enjoy torturing your friends with impossible questions that will bring their moral values into question? "What Would You Do?" combines the three perfectly! Filled with a multitude of formidable questions, you're sure to learn a thing or two about yourself and others when you read this book. Created with conversation in mind, these questions are sure to leave you interested, surprised, frustrated, confused and definitely amused. The tougher questions are guaranteed to leave even the most determined decision-makers sat on the fence. Have a good laugh getting to know your friends with these casual, intense and mind-boggling questions.

What Would You Do for Love If You Had No Fear?

An A-Mazing Way to Deal with Change in Your Work and in Your Life

A Serious Answer to a Standard Question

Customer experience pioneer Jeanne Bliss shows why " Make Mom Proud " companies outperform their competition. Her 5-step guide to customer experience and culture transformation makes this achievement possible. Bliss urges companies to make business personal to earn ardent fans and admirers, by focusing on one deceptively simple question: "Would you do that to your mother?" " Make Mom Proud" companies give customers the treatment they desire, and employes the ability to deliver it. They turn " gotcha " moments into " we 've got your back " moments by rethinking business practices, and they enable employes to be part of the solution to fix customer frustrations.Bliss scored the marketplace seeking companies who excel at living their core values, grounded in what we all learned as kids. She offers a five-step plan for evaluating your current behaviors and implementing actions at every level of the organization. Step 1. " Be the Person I Raised You to Be " Understand how you are hiring, developing and trusting employes to bring the best version of themselves to work. Vali resorts, for example, the world's largest ski resort operator, banned the three words "Our policy is." from their vocabulary, freeing employes to take spirited actions to deliver "the experience of a lifetime." Step 2. " Don ' t Make Me Feed You Soap " Learn the eight key frustrations that bind us as customers (waiting, fear, anxiety, the black hole of no communication, etc) and how to apply actions from companies who are delivering a seamless, frictionless and easy experience. Step 3. " Put Others Before Yourself " Determine if your focus is on helping customers achieve their goals -- and evaluate how that is fueling your growth. Canada's Mayfair Diagnostics, for example, spent over a year studying the emotions of patients entering an imaging clinic, so they could redesign their welcome to deliver warmth and caring over procedure and process. The newly designed clinic achieved profitability in record time. Step 4. " Take the High Road " Learn how companies who do the right thing rise above the competition. Virgin Hotels, for example, named #1 U.S. hotel by Conde Nast Reader's Choice Awards, walked away from price gouging at the mini bar, so you'll never pay more for that Snickers bar than what you'd pay at the corner market. Step 5. " Stop the Shenanigans! " Evaluate your current company behaviors and identify the key actions that you can begin immediately. With 32 case studies and examples from more than 85 companies, this is a practical and easy to follow guide for your experience and culture transformation. Filled with comics to snapshot our experiences as customers, a " mom lens " to reflect continuously on your performance, and a " make-mom-proud-ometer " quiz -- the book makes Bliss ' s approach accessible and approachable. Join the movement to #MakeMomProud by applying this book across your organization. Whether you're contemplating your company's returns policy, its social media presence, or its big-picture strategy, this approach will help your company anticipate both employee and customer needs, and extend patience, and show respect at all times.

"What would you do if you know you could not fail?" These words, attributed to First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, have inspired tens of millions to face their fears and dare to follow their hearts. This can-do compendium is a veritable tool kit for transforming readers from reticent to role model. From the authors of Living Life as a Thank You, this volume present true stories of ordinary people with extraordinary fortitude. Authors Mary Beth Sammons and Nina Lessowitz have gone to the front lines of adversity and fear to surface the brave hearts who took action before they were forced to, confronting and overcoming their fears in inspirational ways. From world-class athletes, to spiritual teachers, to cancer patients, to ordinary people who took extraordinary action to transform their lives, these courage warriors teach readers to turn apprehension into action. Enriched with motivational quotes and power practices, this courage guidebook advises how to live life with guts and gusto. Readers learn to face and transform their fear, apply the art of tenacity when times are tough, embrace the lessons and gifts of a crisis that lead to personal growth, and simple, effective, and proven methods for confidence and courage.

Every day is full of "what would you do?" moments. They can be as simple as times when you're considering whether to bother saying thank you to the taxi driver before getting out of the cab. Or they can be more complicated, such as when you've witnessed discriminating mistreatment of someone and you have to decide whether to speak up. We've all been there. What Would You Do?—Doing the Right Thing Even When You Think No One's Watching is full of real-life stories and staged ones from the highly rated ABC News program. Author John Quiñones takes readers on a journey of self-discovery and inspires them to act in ways they would if they thought a hidden camera was focused on them.

THE #1 INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLER WITH OVER 28 MILLION COPIES IN PRINT! A timeless business classic, Who Moved My Cheese? uses a simple parable to reveal profound truths about dealing with change so that you can enjoy less stress and more success in your work and in your life. It would be all so easy if you had a map to the Maze. If the same old routines worked. If they'd just stop moving "The Cheese." But things keep changing... Most people are fearful of change, both personal and professional, because they don't have any control over how or when it happens to them. Since change happens either to the individual or by the individual, Dr. Spencer Johnson, the coauthor of the multimillion bestseller The One Minute Manager, uses a deceptively simple story to show that when it comes to living in a rapidly changing world, what matters most is your attitude. Exploring a simple way to take the fear and anxiety out of managing the future, Who Moved My Cheese? can help you discover how to anticipate, acknowledge, and accept change in order to have a positive impact on your job, your relationships, and every aspect of your life.

Why not tap into your own wisdom instead of looking to other people for the answers to your biggest questions? This book will show you how to find the answers within yourself, simply, quickly and with lasting effect. You know that sinking feeling when you realize you've just done that thing you said you wouldn't do anymore? There's a pivotal moment in each decision you make, in which you either turn toward yourself and your own Truth, or you turn away. The direction you turn in that pivotal moment will lead to you feeling great or being frustrated, scared or ashamed. "What stops most of my clients from following their truth is that they don't know how to and they don't believe in themselves." - Eliat Aviram Society says you need to be a certain way. This trains you to stop listening to your own Truth and instead listen to what society, your family and the media says you should do with your life. You often override the little voice inside you that tells you which way is best to go or which is the best choice for you in a given moment. When you override or turn away from your inner wisdom like that, it leads to unhappy situations, circumstances and relationships. No matter how bad things are for you, using this simple process can help you quickly transform your life. Eliat is a clinical psychologist who has helped heal clients with this method for over 23 years. Even her toughest clients who have struggled for years with debilitating conditions were finally able to breakthrough to healing once they started listening to their own Truth. You will learn to ask yourself one simple question. The simplicity of this question will return to you the wisest and best answer that comes from within you. This answer will never fail you. You are moments away from starting to read this book. Before you know it, you'll start asking the key question and getting the exact answers you need to make great decisions that feel good to you. You'll know the method within the first 5 pages and by chapter 3, you will be able to use this easy-to-apply technique. In just a few hours, you can start the process of healing your mind, body, health, sex, money, food issues and improve your work and parenting. You have nothing to lose by starting this process except all the negative crap that you no longer want in your life. You may gain, for the first time, a real connection to your true self who will never let you down. Listening to your Truth is loving yourself. Imagine feeling comfortable and safe to live free from the constraints of what everyone else and society says you should be doing with your life. "...so simple you don't expect it to be as powerful as it is!" Christine Kloser, Author, The Transformation Quadrant "You have a way of lifting veils, of shifting perspectives, of connecting mind, body and soul. " Elizabeth Nadler-Nir, Founder of The Reading Gym Reading this book feels like a wise, loving friend is speaking directly to you. It's full of therapy stories showing how regular people have overcome obstacles. The explanations of the neuroscience behind this method are easy to understand. It is multi-media rich with video meditations, downloadable exercises, chapter summaries and checklists that will support your process of transformation. He was in love with a very attractive woman for whom he would have given his life if he had to. Then, something came out of the box and bit him right in the heart. Love, greed, obsession, lies, and confessions with this twisted novel will have you out of your seat. How do you think you would know someone for so many years who will turn out to be your worst enemy? What would you do if this happens to you? How much could or would you take?

For this book, author Diane Conway approached a police officer, a waitress, a politician, a lawyer, a cab driver, and many others, and asked them each the same question: "What would you do if you had no fear?" The results, chronicled in this book, were both surprising and enlightening. Her respondents told her their secrets, their long-hidden dreams, and their fears. Their dreams included quitting mind-numbing jobs, applying to medical school, buying tickets to South America, finding true love, quitting drinking, or having an affair. The distance between dreaming and doing, according to Conway, is surprisingly short. In What Would You Do If You Had No Fear? her fresh voice and "Studs Terkel in drag persona" challenge readers to stop, open their hearts, and truly live. Included are self-tests, quizzes, growth exercises, and inspiring quotes for realizing one's fear-free potential.
